SEATTLE BECOMES FIRST CITY IN THE U.S. TO BAN CASTE DISCRIMINATION

The Seattle City Council on Tuesday voted to add caste as a protected category to the city's anti-discrimination laws

'MOVEMENT SHOULD SPREAD ACROSS STATES'

The city already bans discrimination based on disability, religion, sexual orientation. The latest move will prohibit businesses from discriminating on caste lines for jobs, access to public spaces and housing. "Now we need to build a movement to spread this victory around the country," tweeted city council member Kshama Sawant, who introduced the legislation

IT VIOLATES U.S. CONSTITUTION, SAY CRITICS

- However, the move has evoked criticism as well. The Hindu American Foundation said in the guise of non-discrimination, the city will now single out South Asians, which is a violation of the US Constitution's guarantee of equal protection that prohibits the state from treating disparately people on account of their national origin or religion

Rupee-Dirham trade deal with the UAE in final run

Spadework already done; pact to be announced by leaderships of both nations

SHAHID FARIDI @ New Delhi

INDIA is set to sign a Rupee-Dirham trade deal with the United Arab Emirates.

Top Indian banking and finance officials are in Abu Dhabi for the three-day trip from February 21-23 to hammer out details of the deal.

According to sources, central bank and finance department officials of the two countries have been working together since late last year to put in place a Rupee-Dirham payment mechanism. They said officials of the Reserve Bank of India and UAE Central Bank have already done the groundwork for the introduction of bilateral trade in local currencies. The deal would soon be announced by the top leaders of the two countries.

India-UAE relations have strengthened over the years and the two countries signed a Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement last February to facilitate easier flow of goods and services between them. The UAE is India's third largest trading partner after the US and China.

The two countries currently use the US dollar to settle payments. The replacement of dollar with local currencies will result in savings on account of foreign currency conversion fee and facilitate easier flow of capital, including remittances. It would also help India save precious foreign exchange. Trade under this new India-UAE pact will be conducted through vostro accounts of banks of the two countries.

India has embarked on an ambitious journey to reduce the use of dollar and promote the rupee for bilateral trade. It is in an advanced stage of talks with several other countries for trade in local currencies. The decision will boost free trade between India and partner countries.

India had a Rupee-Rouble exchange mechanism with the erstwhile Soviet Union. The two countries made attempts to revive it after Western sanctions following the Russian invasion of Ukraine last year but have not been able to reach a final agreement yet. It's still work in progress.

Roopa goes on with attack, Sindhuri seeks ₹1 cr damage

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

DESPITE instructions from the government to refrain from making allegations in public and being subjected to punishment transfer, IPS officer Roopa D Moudgil again took to social media, requesting the media to focus on corruption allegations against IAS officer Rohini Sindhuri. Sindhuri, meanwhile, approached a city court seeking an injunction. She also slapped a legal notice against Roopa, seeking an unconditional apology and Rs 1 crore in damages.

Roopa, in her Facebook post, stated, "Dear media, please keep the focus on the corruption issue that I have raised against Rohini Sindhuri IAS. I have not prevented anyone from fighting against corruption, that most affects common man."

Continuing, she also sought an inquiry into the pattttern. Roopa said, "The PATTERN, where one IAS officer dies in Karnataka, one IPS officer dies in Tamil Nadu, one IAS husband-wife in Karnataka are already divorced. Me and my husband are still together. We are still fighting to keep family intact. Please question the perpetrator who exhibits the pattern becoming obstacle to family. Else, many more families will be destroyed. I am a strong woman. I will fight. Not all women have the same strength to fight. Please be a voice to such women. India is known for family values. Let's keep up that (sic)." P4

Train power wire snaps near Kolar, thousands stranded

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru/Kolar

THOUSANDS of train passengers suffered delays of over five hours between KSR and Bangarpet railway stations as the wires of the overhead electric equipment (OHE) snapped in Kolar on Wednesday afternoon when a train was passing.

To maintain continuity of service, the South Western Railways replaced electric locos with diesel locos for all express and superfast trains. The trains were made to stop at every station, delaying them enormously, but offering some relief to stranded passengers. In all, 15 passenger trains were cancelled and as a result, buses plying towards Bangarpet were overcrowded.

The overhead electric wires snapped between Malur and Tyakal stations in Kolar district at 2.45 pm when the Bengaluru-Marikuppam passenger train (Tr no. 01775) was passing. The stations are on Bengaluru towards Bangarpet line (UP line), while the DOWN line (Bangarpet to KSR) remained unaffected.

No alert from Rlys

As the Railways failed to put out a message on the disruption of service on social media sites, many were stranded

MORBI BRIDGE COLLAPSE

HC directs Oreva to pay ₹10L each to kin of victims in 4 weeks

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedbabd

THE Gujarat High Court on Wednesday ordered Oreva group, which maintained the British-era suspension bridge in Morbi that collapsed killing 135 people in October last year, to pay ₹10 lakh each as "interim compensation" to the family of the deceased and ₹2 lakh each to those who have been injured within four weeks. The amount is in addition to ₹10 lakh already paid by the state government and the Centre.

While directing the company to pay compensation, Chief Justice Sonia Gokani and Justice Sandeep Bhatt noted that the victims' lives are completely disrupted. "Nobody can compensate them, this is just an attempt," the judges said.

The bench rejected the company's offer to pay ₹5 lakh each to the kin of those who lost their lives and ₹1 lakh to those injured, terming it "not enough". The bench also made it clear that Oreva's offer of compensation won't absolve it of its liability.

While fixing the compensation amount, the court cited the Supreme Court's observation that the private party must pay 55% with the remaining coming from state funds.

On the evening of October 30 last year, 135 visitors, including 35 children, were killed when the suspension bridge over the Machchu river collapsed. The repair and maintenance contract of the bridge was awarded to clock-manufacturing firm Oreva, which re-opened the bridge for visitors without getting a fitness certificate or prior approval from the Morbi municipality.

75% of 373 contracts of PWD given to single, two bidders, says CAG

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AMIDST allegations of irregularities in awarding works to contractors, the Comptroller and Auditor General (CAG) report on "Planning and Contract Management of Road Works" in the Public Works Department (PWD) pointed to large-scale malpractice between 2016 and 2021 in the department. Interestingly, during the period, all the three major parties -- Congress, Janata Dal (Secular) and BJP -- were in power.

The performance audit was conducted covering financial years 2016-17 to 2020-21. The CAG report, which was tabled in the Assembly on Wednesday, stated that tender-inviting authorities stipulated higher specification of machinery and invited tenders from higher class of contractors than required for the works. It said there was no database of contractors to verify the bid capacity. "... The department either allowed ineligible contractors to participate or restricted eligible contractors from participating and thereby limiting competition," it stated.

Of the 499 works awarded during the period, 131 had just single bidders and 242 projects two bidders. The total worth of works was Rs 2,738.86 crore of the entire Rs 3,583 crore of projects taken up during these years. Of the 131 works with just single bidders, contractors quoted 11 per cent to 32 per cent higher than the Tender Statement of Compliance rate. "This is a violation of Karnataka PWD Code that says in case of single bid, suspected collusion, or where the lowest evaluated responsive bid is substantially above the estimated cost, in such cases, first choice is for rejection of all tenders and re-inviting fresh tenders," the CAG said.

The CAG report that was tabled in the Assembly on Wednesday, points out that BDA failed to make provisions for the approach road, while the BBMP building bylaw says that a minimum road width of 12 metres and approach road is essential for housing units

CAG: BDA VIOLATED BBMP BYLAWS ON ROAD TO FLATS

Says due to narrow stretch, only 224 of 1,500 apartment units sold

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) has violated Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) building bylaws by not constructing an approach road for high-rise buildings. Because of this, the authority has been able to sell only 224 of the 1,500 flats constructed during Phase II-V at its layout in Kengeri in Bengaluru, says the CAG report.

The total cost of the entire project was Rs 457.15 crore. The CAG report that was tabled in the Assembly on Wednesday points out that BDA failed to make provisions for the approach road owing to land acquisition issues, while the BBMP building bylaw says that a minimum road width of 12 metres and the approach road is essential for all housing units.

"The absence of a proper approach road contributed to the low demand for the housing units constructed," the Comptroller and Auditor General (CAG) noted.

The CAG objected and said the Phase I of 608 flats by BDA for economically weaker sections was awarded to a contractor in May 2012 with a due date by November 2013. However, the contractor did not complete the works even by January 2015. The electrical, sanitary and miscellaneous works were not carried out and it has remained abandoned. In April 2016, BDA terminated the work at the risk and cost of the contractor after making payment to Rs 27.24 crore. Later in 2016, BDA took custody of material at site worth Rs 0.91 crore which were stored in the basement.

Meanwhile, flats under Phase II to IV were completed in April 2017. Despite flats unsold, BDA initiated Phase V of the project and completed it in September 2018. But these flats were not allotted even in March 2022. According to the CAG report, out of the 1,500 flats built at a cost of Rs 457.15 crore, only 224 were sold. CAG also objected to Phase I which is incomplete with materials dumped. There has been damage to materials over the last six years, causing further loss to the Authority. CAG has recommended BDA should take up housing projects only after conducting proper demand surveys and ensuring that basic infrastructure including approach roads were provided.

Bill passed to exempt colleges from property tax

The Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (Amendment) Bill, 2023, was passed in the Assembly on Wednesday. The Bill exempts educational institutions from paying property tax. The Bill proposes to exempt the recognised educational institutions from paying property tax. These are institutions established for the purpose of education, recognised by government or local authority.

Shuttle fee: Premji varsity students on fast

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

STEPPING up pressure on the Azim Premji University (APU) management, students have begun an indefinite hunger strike for imposing shuttle fees on a single batch of students.

Students have been protesting for the last 10 days, asking that shuttle fees not be imposed on them. In 2022, students had protested, asking that a shuttle facility be implemented to allow students safe passage from the university's hostels, which lie around 2 km away from the university. "There had been several instances of sexual harassment that had occurred against the students while travelling to the university, which is why we had asked that the shuttle service be implemented. This was done last year, but in the current academic year, they introduced a shuttle fee," a student, who wished to remain anonymous, told TNIE.

> There had been several instances of sexual harassment that had occurred against the students while travelling to the university, which is why we had asked that the shuttle service be implemented
> — Student, Azim Premji University

Currently, first and second-year UG students live on campus, while third-year students live in private housing. Postgraduate students live off campus, in university hostels. While second-year postgraduate students use the shuttle for free, the university imposed a fee for only current first-year postgraduate student of Rs 8,500 a semester. "The fee is also imposed on students who had a 100 per cent scholarship from the university. As the university is set to open a new hostel next year on campus, this is the only batch of students who are being asked to pay a total of Rs 17,000 extra this year," they said.

The students have maintained that they will continue an indefinite hunger strike against the university. Currently, around 10 students are on hunger strike, with APU VC Indu Prasad stating that she would talk to the students on Thursday. However, despite multiple attempts to get in contact with APU management, including Registrar Manoj Puthiyarambath, the university has refused to comment. In the meantime, Umashankar Sharma, PRO for Azim Premji University, said the university has refrained from giving any comments regarding the issue.

Grapes, watermelon mela at Hopcoms

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE annual grapes and watermelon mela officially kicked off on Wednesday at the Horticultural Producers' Cooperative Marketing and Processing Society (Hopcoms) head office in Lalbagh.

Hopcoms President N Devaraj said the aim is to procure and sell 500 metric tonnes of different grape varieties from Chikkaballapura and other districts. He added that Hopcoms' aim is to sell 800 metric tonnes of watermelons from all its stores in Bengaluru.

Devaraj said they have a network of farmers from Chikkaballapura, Vijayapura, Bagalkot, Kolar and Koppal, from whom they have procured the grapes and watermelon. "There are about 13 types of grapes and four types of watermelons. Grapes are known for being rich in natural sugar, and minerals like calcium, phosphorus, and iron. Similarly, watermelon contains Vitamin A, Vitamin C, B-1, B-2, potassium, magnesium, sodium, etc. and is good for digestion. We will give a 10-per cent discount at all our stalls in Bengaluru and the offer will continue till the end of summer," said Devaraj.

On the sidelines of the conference, he also said that no government in the last few years has supported Hopcoms, concerning to their demand for funds, towards gratuity for retired workers. "Out of 600 employees, 200 retired and another 150 will be retiring in the next one year and we need at least Rs 25 crore. The present government in the budget has announced Rs 12 crore working capital support for Hopcoms," he said.

Metro official inspects 6 stations on Whitefield line

ON 22/02/2023 TO 24/02/2023

BMRCL officials and staff inspect a section of the 13.71-km stretch from Whitefield to K R Puram on the extended Purple Line stretch, in Bengaluru on Wednesday

> Various parameters of track, third rail system, functioning of lift, escaltors and fire fighting systems were inspected throughout the day
> — Official, BMRCL

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Commissioner of Metro Rail Safety (CMRS) on Wednesday commenced its three-day inspection on a section of the 13.71-km stretch from Whitefield to K R Puram on the extended Purple Line stretch. A total of six stations were covered out of the 12 stations dotting the stretch, said senior Metro officials.

The inspection began at 10 am with the inspection trolley being used along the tracks. Whitefield, Channasandra, Kadugodi, Pattandur Agrahara (or ITPL), Sadarmangla and Nallurhalli (formerly Vydehi Hospital) stations were inspected. A Metro official said, "Various parameters of track, third rail system, functioning of lift, escaltors and fire fighting systems were inspected throughout the day. Passenger amenities and facilities available at the station were also checked."

"The safety aspect of the operations was inspected throughout the stretch. The bearings along the tracks would be inspected either tonight or on Thursday night by the team," BMRCL Managing Director Anjum Parwez told TNIE.

Another official said that the inspection would be on for three days (up to February 24). "High-speed rolling stock tests would conclude the inspection," he said.

If the CMRS clearance is given, the stretch from Whitefield to K R Puram will begin operations after March 15.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

23RD February: There's a spate of Mercury patterns at the moment, and they all concern mysterious planets like Pluto. So, what might we expect from this? Well, I'd say that we can look for inventive, innovative and unusual ideas. The skill is in knowing which can actually be put into practice and which are just a waste of time.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You are not one to play the martyr. However, you may be wise to consider a tactical withdrawal, if only to regroup your forces and avoid being blamed for mistakes which are frankly nothing to do with you. Keep an eye out for lingering legal problems, though.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You never did play all your trump cards in one go. Therefore, you are really in quite a strong position. At work, you can afford to be perfectly charming and considerate even to your rivals. Partners will be impressed if you set your sights on the long-term picture and put short-term distractions in their proper place.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
It's the Moon which is important today; indicating that other people have the emotional advantage. You may therefore have to grin and bear it as they play their little games, extracting what pleasure they can from winding you up. The golden rule is: never take the bait!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You may not feel like sharing whatever good fortune comes your way, but you must realise that other people do deserve some of the rewards. Complicated emotional situations are not entirely their fault. You may bear some responsibility, so a little humility may be in order.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
The expensive phase you have been going through is due to continue for about another eight days. Therefore, you must expect a large bill or some other demand for money to arrive at almost any time. How you deal with it is up to you - and your good judgment.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Battle may be commenced at home, but possibly not until tomorrow. You have a little time left to work out a strategy but also to complete any tasks or obligations which you have left undone. The real question, though, is a psychological one: why are you ready for a clash with authority?

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Your persuasive powers are strong, yet your grasp of the facts is slight. In your confusion you are nothing if not typical, for nobody has any real idea as to what is actually happening. Any light you can shed on the situation will be most welcome, even if partners don't fully get your drift!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
As Jupiter gradually moves closer to a vital alignment with a number of other planets over the coming time, your chances of a breakthrough can only improve. However, when it comes, the change may be one of inner attitude rather than outer circumstances.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The Moon, that most emotional and changeable of planets, is still at your beck and call. This means that you are in control at home and that all family arrangements may be shaped to your will. Can you really do it? I honestly feel that you can.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Your best policy today may be to keep certain matters to yourself. There is nothing to be gained from talking to other people about your hopes, wishes or problems that can't be sorted out in private. What you have to do is wait until the time is right to speak your heart.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Do make an effort to mix socially and get out and about as much as possible. Hopefully, people you meet now will go some way to improving your morale and restoring your battered confidence. There could be a bit of an emotional confrontation in the air, but at least the truth could come out at last.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Other people will be expecting you to perform some sort of maternal, caring role. However, it is you, not they, who is searching for emotional security, so please try to be clear about your motives. You have to be absolutely sure of your next step.

As thieves strike, inmates of govt school hostel live in fear

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

AROUND 345 students and 11 teachers of the Government Boys' High School in Ramanagara, are living in extreme fear due to a series of untoward incidents in the school building. Unidentified miscreants have stolen foodgrains, CCTV cameras and other valuables, after breaking open the locks of rooms.

Luckily for the students and teachers, efforts by the accused to enter the records room failed as they were unable to break open the iron door. Vital documents of the students and service records of the faculty were in the records room, and were at risk if the accused had managed to enter. The miscreants also stole three CCTV cameras, which were not connected due to electricity fluctuation. A few months ago, a few accused men had even started a fire in one of the classrooms.

The school, which is run in a dilapidated building, does not have a full-time principal, and a senior teacher, Prema, has been made in-charge vice-principal (V-P) of the school. She told TNIE that she had written to the department to depute a watchman at night. She was also worried that the school compound had become a safe haven for drunkards.

The school is located in Hajinagara ward in Ramanagara. The incidents happened between January 17 and 20, when the school was closed. The accused allegedly stole 300kg of rice, 50kg of wheat and 25kg of milk powder, library books and the three CCTV cameras.

The complaint was filed by in-charge vice-principal Prema on Monday.

"We are shifting the records from the damaged room to the other room. They include records of SSLC students who will be writing their exams in a few days. After the foodgrains were stolen, temporary arrangements are being made by collecting foodgrains from nearby government schools to provide mid-day meals to students. The accused even stole a bag of milk powder. The incident of arson is yet to be solved. Overall, I am extremely tense as I am answerable for whatever happens in school," Prema told TNIE. Meanwhile, police who are on the lookout for the accused, suspect that they must be locals who stay in the vicinity.

DOMESTIC WORKERS' UNION TO TAKE UP ISSUES, FIGHT FOR RIGHTS

ENS @ Bengaluru

MEMBERS of the Domestic Workers' Rights Union (DWRU) urged all domestic workers to come forward and join the union to build a strong community and fight for workers' rights.

Geeta Menon, founder, Stree Jagruti Samiti, and joint secretary, DWRU, said a union is important to unite all workers to strengthen the community's voice, and raise issues they face. Menon said there have been instances of abuse, sexual assault and even casteist remarks made against the workers, but no action is taken. She urged people to come forward and join the community at a cost of only Rs 50. Holding regular meetings will give workers an opportunity to speak up against injustice faced by them on a larger scale.

Over the years, not much work has been done for the uplift of domestic workers, and no allocation is made in the budget for the welfare of unorganised workers, Menon said, adding that on the government preference list, domestic workers come in last. Union president Radha M, addressing the workers at the annual general body meeting at BES College in Bengaluru, said, "A domestic worker often faces harassment at work, and is not paid well. Being a union member will give the workers an opportunity to speak up against injustice. The workers must not be fearful of their employers, all workers deserve respect and must stand up for it."

Alamelu (43), a domestic worker, said the union proved to be very helpful for all workers, especially during the pandemic, as it provided them with ration, books for their children and even helped them avail financial incentives from the government.

Man sets house afire; wife, two daughters charred to death

CHIKKABALLAPUR: A man reportedly killed his wife and two daughters by setting his house on fire at Hennuru village in Sidlaghatta taluk on Wednesday.

Central Range Inspector General of Police Ravikanthe Gowda told The New Indian Express that the deceased have been identified as Nethravati (37) and two daughters aged 12 and 9.

Accused Sonne Gowda (48) also tried to commit suicide by consuming poison. Neighbours who noticed the fire rushed to the spot but could not save the family. They, however, shifted Sonne Gowda to Chikkaballapur Government Hospital. Later, he was shifted to a Bengaluru hospital for treatment.

The senior police officer also said preliminary investigation revealed that Nethravati had filed a domestic abuse case against Sonne Gowda, and had even filed a maintenance case before the court. ENS

Stalker held for 2nd time in 3 months

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 22-year-old man from Tirunelveli in Tamil Nadu has been arrested by the JB Nagar police for the second time in three months following a complaint of stalking by his former colleague. The 27-year-old woman, who works in ISRO, is a resident of Murugeshpalya, and had filed a complaint against the accused identified as R Mariyappan.

The woman had earlier filed a complaint on November 21, 2022, in the same police station against the accused. Mariyappan was then arrested and later released on bail. He, however, continued to stalk her. Following her previous complaint, Mariyappan is said to have been sacked from the job. "The second complaint was filed by the woman on February 10. The accused has been remanded in judicial custody. The accused is alleged to have been harassing her since November 2021. After undergoing the harassment for almost one year, the victim had filed her first complaint in November, last year. The accused was forcing her to marry him. He is said to have been troubling her by messaging and making calls. He had also created fake profiles on social media to harass her," said the police. On February 10, while she was going home from office, the accused had followed her and pleaded with her to marry him. The victim approached the police again for the second time as his harassment kept increasing.

A case of stalking (IPC 354D) word, gesture or act intended to insult the modesty of a woman (IPC 509) and wrongful restraint (IPC 341) has been registered.

THIS IS MY LAST SESSION, SAYS EMOTIONAL BSY

The 79-year-old senior MLA says he will continue to campaign to bring BJP back to power

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

BOOKANAKERE Siddalingappa Yediyurappa, who has been elected to the Assembly eight times from Shikaripura in Shivamogga district, bid an emotional farewell to the House on Wednesday. This is his last term as a member of Assembly as he has decided not to contest the coming elections this year.

The senior Bharatiya Janata Party leader, who has had a phenomenal career becoming chief minister four times and bringing the saffron party to power in the state almost single-handedly, said, "It's like a farewell speech as there will be no question of coming back to the House. As I have decided earlier, I am not contesting the polls. But the kind of respect and the posts Prime Minister Narendra Modi has given to me is unforgettable. Till my last breath, I will put in an honest effort to strengthen the BJP."

The 79-year-old leader said he will not sit back at home and will travel the length and breadth of the state after the Assembly session, campaigning for BJP to bring it back to power.

"I will campaign in these polls and, God willing, the next polls too. BJP will certainly return to power with a full mandate this time," he asserted.

Advising ruling party members to face the polls with full confidence and to make opposition party MLAs continue to sit in the opposition, he said, "Let us bring BJP to power as even those in opposition parties are likely to come along with us. Like the certainty of sun and moon, BJP too will come back to power," he added.

Former CM BS Yediyurappa addresses the Assembly at Vidhana Soudha in Bengaluru on Wednesday

Moved by the veteran leader's statement, Priyank Kharge from Congress and KL Shivalinge Gowda from Janata Dal-Secular said Yediyurappa should contest the upcoming elections and return to the House. "This House needs sir's vast experience and he should get elected again," said Chittapur MLA Priyank.

Gowda, MLA from Arsikere, too wished that Yediyurappa comes back to the House, while other members of the House expressed the same sentiment.

Meanwhile, Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri clarified that Yediyurappa will speak on the last day of the ongoing budget session of the State Legislature on Friday again.

BJP's Sandur rally to focus on KK region

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Ballari

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah would address a public rally in Sandur in Ballari district on Thursday and also hold a BJP core committee meeting of the districts of Ballari, Vijayanagara, Koppal and Raichur ahead of the Assembly elections in the state. Shah's visit to Kalyana Karnataka will give a much-needed boost to BJP workers of the region.

BJP has never won from Sandur constituency. While the party is all determined to dethrone three-time MLA E Tukaram of the Congress, the local party leaders' focus is on the core committee meeting as it could discuss possible candidates from the four aforementioned districts. "We are planning to win maximum seats in the Kalyana Karnataka region. Campaigning for the region starts from Sandur," a party leader from Ballari told TNIE. Ballari has four constituencies reserved for STs. "We want to win all the reserved constituencies in the wake of the State Government hiking reservation for SC/ST. Shah's instruction is clear... to place the report card of the development works and the reservation hike before people," he said.

Another BJP leader said that Sandur, a Congress bastion, will be bagged by the BJP this time. "Amit Shah's visit to Sandur will boost the confidence of party workers. The presence of Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, and Transport Minister B Sriramulu in the rally would further encourage our workers," he added.

Shah to discuss BJP's B'luru strategy, to meet people from various sectors

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

AS improving its performance in the state capital with 28 Assembly segments will be crucial part of the BJP's election strategy, Union Home Minister Amit Shah will be holding a meeting with leaders from Bengaluru on Thursday evening.

Shah will discuss the party strategy for Bengaluru with Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, former CM BS Yediyurappa, BJP state chief Nalin Kumar Kateel, and MPs and MLAs from the party. A BJP leader said Shah will review preparations for the Assembly elections during a meeting at a private hotel.

In the 2018 Assembly polls, the BJP had not done particularly well in Bengaluru, but its position improved in 2019 after the bypolls when MLAs from the Congress and JDS joined the party to help form the government.

Shah will also interact with representatives from various sectors, including the film industry, doctors, industries, small-scale industries and educational institutions. A BJP leader said he will interact with around 500 people for nearly 60 minutes at a meeting to be held in Town Hall in Bengaluru.

In the meeting, which is seen as an attempt to take leaders from various sectors into confidence before the polls, Shah will explain the works taken up by the Union and State governments. During his recent visit to Bengaluru, PM Modi had interacted with cricketers and actors.

Back to Modi factor, BJP leaders hope roadshow will boost its chances

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

WITH Prime Minister Narendra Modi scheduled to visit Shivamogga on February 27 to participate in a string of programmes, there is expectation that his visit will help retain the six constituencies where BJP has sitting MLAs, and also Bhadaravati, where the BJP lost last time.

There have been requests from organisations in adjoining districts that Modi visit their constituencies. An official source said a meeting of RSS and BJP leaders was held to maximise the benefits of the PM's visit, by getting him to do a road show in other areas as well. For example, in Belagavi district, where the BJP does not appear very comfortable due to diminishing votes in parliamentary bypolls, numbers showed that over 2 lakh votes had shifted to the Congress. The passing away of former minister Umesh Katti, sidelining of former DyCM Laxman Savadi, non-inclusion of former minister Ramesh Jarkiholi, who was dropped from the cabinet following sleaze allegations, has not helped the party's morale here.

Besides, the victory of independent MLC from Belagavi Chennaraj Hattiholi against the official BJP candidate has only exposed the party's weakness in the district, which has the second highest number of MLAs after Bengaluru Urban.

BJP leaders are of the opinion that Modi's road show will help the party in the 18 constituencies in Belagavi. At present, the party has 11 MLAs and Congress has five, while two seats are vacant -- Hukkeri, which was held by Umesh Katti, and Saundatti, where Chandrashekar Mamani was the sitting MLA, both from the BJP.

The BJP is concerned that in the 11 constituencies, Congress came in second, losing some seats by less than 10,000 votes. There is also concern that the Panchamsalis, who are in large numbers in almost all constituencies, are displeased over the reservation row.

There is expectation that Modi's visit will rejuvenate the cadres and legislators who have been in power for more than three terms, and hope to beat incumbency. "We have planned a road show around 3pm, which will conclude with a public meeting. PM Modi's visit will help constituencies in Belagavi and adjoining districts too," Belagavi BJP district president Anil Benake said.

Wave in favour of BJP in Karnataka, says CT Ravi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

BJP national general secretary C T Ravi claimed that there is a strong wave in favour of the saffron party in Karnataka. "Youth in large numbers are joining the BJP and polarisation in favour of the BJP will continue across the state," he told reporters here. Speaking to media persons here on Wednesday, Ravi said people of Mandya district will stand by former chief minister BS Yediyurappa and elect the highest number of MLAs from the district which is considered a JDS stronghold.

Referring to KPCC president DK Shivakumar's appeal to make him the CM, Ravi said: "How can anyone do politics depending on one community? Shivakumar must understand that he is not contesting the Vokkaligara Sangha election to win with the support of one community. To win Assembly elections, one needs the support of all communities."

Ravi lashed out at JDS supremo HD Deve Gowda and his family and urged people of Mandya to oppose dynastic politics and stop believing in leaders who shed tears in public functions.

When asked about him visiting a temple after consuming non-vegetarian food, the MLA said he was born in a meat-eating community. "I did not visit any temple after consuming non-vegetarian food. I am a religious man," he added.

Bills related to 6 private universities passed

The Legislative Council passed the Bills related to six private universities on Wednesday. The Bills related to the Acharya University, T John University, Sapthagiri NPS University, Kishkinda University, GM University (Davanagere), and Rajya Vokkaligara Sangha University were passed.

Kin of Covid victims in B'luru get ₹466 crore

Revenue Minister R Ashok informed the council that Rs. 466 crore compensation was provided to the families of those who died of Covid-19 in Bengaluru. He said as per the bulletin issued by the health department, 16,990 people died due to Covid-19 in Bengaluru. "We had received 10,137 applications for compensation of which 3,450 were BPL cases. In 3,399 cases, Rs 1 lakh compensation from the state government has been provided while there was a mismatch of details in 51 cases," he said.

Assembly passes Bill for women to work night shift at factories

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka Assembly on Wednesday passed the Factories (Karnataka Amendment) Bill 2023 that would allow women to work in night shifts at factories. At present, women are allowed to work at factories round-the-clock according to an order issued by the State government. Now, the government is making it a law, by getting the Bill passed in the Assembly.

During the Covid-19 pandemic in 2019, the State Government had issued an order stressing women can work in night shifts (between 7pm and 6am) at factories registered under the Factories Act, 1948. The order then had also stated that factories need to take a written consent from women workers who are willing to work in night shifts.

Labour Minister Shivaram Hebbar told The New Indian Express that Karnataka is already allowing women to work in night shifts in factories and industries. "It was decided through a government order, which we have now passed in the House," he said.

The Bill also allows the State Government to increase daily work hours from nine to 12, not exceeding 48 hours a week. This will "create more economic activities and employment opportunities.

It also proposed to allow the State Government to prescribe the hours of work in any day or in any week above which wages at the rate of twice the rate of ordinary in respect of overtime work is payable to workers in respect of overtime work

K'taka budget cursory, lacks vision, says Hariprasad

Leader of the Opposition in the Council BK Hariprasad slammed the state budget saying it lacks vision and seemed that the CM has presented a cursory budget. He said the government had failed to implement several programmes announced in the 2022-23 budget. Referring to the proposed EV Hub in TN by a Bengaluru firm, he said Bengaluru is called a city of opportunities but it is losing the tag due to government's policies, which is also leading to unemployment.

Sports Minister Anurag Singh Thakur tries his hand at volleyball after inaugurating an indoor stadium at Sports Authority of India in Bengaluru on Wednesday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

Sports projects worth ₹70cr will be ready by June, says Thakur

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ BENGALURU

UNION Sports Minister Anurag Singh Thakur on Wednesday inaugurated a multipurpose indoor stadium at Sports Authority of India (SAI), Bengaluru, and said that by June 2023, Rs 70 crore worth of projects will be dedicated to sportspersons from the campus.

At present, there is a 750-bed sports hostel at SAI, and work is on to build another 330-bed hostel for girls and a 300-bed hostel for boys. This apart, a new athletic track and hockey turf will come up on the campus, spread across 82 acres in Kengeri. He said SAI will also upgrade its services in sports medicine and sports science, all worth Rs 70 crore, and will be dedicated to sportspeople across the country.

"In all, there will be a 1380-bed hostel, the biggest sports hostel complex in the country. We are also adding new facilities. Dedicated sports training will be imparted and a one-year diploma course will also be offered. The sports budget has increased by three times compared to the past few years, with Rs 3,397 crore allocation. To popularise Khelo India, Rs 3,200 crore was sanctioned. Our aim is to win more medals in 2024 (Paris Olympics)," Thakur said.

The minister met sportspersons on the campus and inquired about the facilities being given. If they need anything more or in case of any inconvenience, he told them to reach out to his office.

'BJP serious about Karnataka'

To a question on Congress allegations of 40 per cent commission scam, and that the BJP would not return to power in Karnataka, Thakur said the Congress can say what it wants, but the reality is that the country is progressing and turning into the world's fifth largest economy.

Rohini wants Roopa to say sorry, sends her legal notice

SINDHURI took legal steps against the IGP-rank officer and filed a petition before the city civil and sessions court requesting the court to issue injunction orders against Roopa. Allowing the petition, the court reserved the interim order till Thursday.

Sindhuri also slapped a legal notice against Roopa, asking her to tender an unconditional apology in writing for making defamatory comments/statements/allegations and post the apology on her Facebook page as well as before the media, while deleting the earlier posts on social media accounts. The IAS officer claimed damages of Rs 1 crore from Roopa for causing loss of reputation and mental agony. The notice stated that appropriate criminal proceedings will be initiated under Section 500 (punishment for defamation) of the IPC if Roopa fails to tender an apology and pay damages.

MLC wants them suspended

BJP MLC H Vishwanath raised the issue of the spat between IPS officer Roopa Moudgil and IAS officer Rohini Sindhuri in public, and demanded that both be placed under suspension.

Raising the issue during zero hour in the council on Wednesday, Vishwanath said the people of the state were forming a bad opinion about governance due to the officers' behaviour. "The government has not even issued them show cause notice. Is our chief minister afraid to take action against them? The question is, do we require such officers in our state? The government must suspend them immediately and take action by conducting an inquiry," he said.

Many contractors violated norms: Report

THE CAG recommended to the state government to include necessary provisions under the KPWD code to initiate disciplinary action against tender-accepting authorities for approving bids with single bidders in violation of government rules.

As per the Indian Road Congress guidelines, field labs should be set up for quality test, but many contractors violated these norms, the report said. PWD released Rs 1,480 crore to contractors in 333 instances to set up field labs, but contractors did not, and they also failed to include quality control test reports with the bills. The department could have penalised the contractors before clearing the bills, it stated. The CAG recommended to the government to issue orders to fix responsibilities on officers for making payment without quality control test reports.

FAREWELL SPEECH

Vinisha hopes Anglo-Indians will be back in House

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

"I speak today as 'probably' the last nominated Anglo-Indian MLA in Karnataka. I say 'probably', as I would like to believe that the action to keep in abeyance our nomination, will be restored and we will be back to continue contributing to our country India, as we Anglo-Indians have always done," said Vinisha Nero, who was nominated for two terms as MLA under the Anglo-Indian quota. She was speaking in the assembly on the Karnataka Budget for 2023.

"Very unfortunately, the present BJP government has dealt a crippling blow to Anglo-Indians, by keeping in abeyance our nomination to State Legislatures and the Lok Sabha since January 2020, citing untruths that there are only 296 Anglo-Indians in India, and we are a well-off community... this is far from the facts," she regretted.

She expressed hope that her community's political nomination will be restored, as then Union Law Minister Ravi Shankar Prasad had stated that the door was not shut on them, but is still kept ajar.

She urged Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai to revoke the National Overseas Scholarship of Rs 20 lakh being given to minority students, as in the budget it is being given as a loan without interest, adding that studying abroad is a big burden on parents.

She also urged that educational institutions of minorities be exempt from property tax, which was withdrawn and many schools were asked to pay up tax amounting to lakhs and crores of rupees. "This is getting passed on to the students. I request the government and chief minister to please review this," she appealed.

"I learnt to better understand people's problems, especially in rural areas, learnt how to prioritise basic needs from wants, contribute positively in my own small way to the various committees I served on, be it the Women and Child Committee, House Committee, Committee for Atrocities against Women and Children, the Christian Development Committee and many others. I had the opportunity to travel to 26 districts in Karnataka," she claimed.

The condition of former Kerala CM Oommen Chandy, who is currently undergoing immunotherapy treatment at a private hospital in Bengaluru, has improved. According to the medical bulletin issued by the hospital, his lung infection has been cured

Girls move SC to write exam in govt colleges

SHRUTI KAKKAR @NewDelhi

THE Supreme Court on Wednesday agreed to write a call in a plea by a group of girl students from Karnataka, seeking to be allowed to take exams in government colleges wearing the hijab by setting up a three-judge bench.

Urging the bench of CJI DY Chandrachud and Justice PS Narasimha to list the plea before March 9, advocate Shadan Farasat submitted that the girls are not being allowed to take exams in government colleges while wearing hijab. He also added that the girl students have lost one year due to this.

"They have already lost one year. They don't want to lose one more year. The prayer is only to let them take part in the exam. I am not seeking any other directions. They are not being allowed to take exams cause of differences of opinion between justices Gupta and Dhulia. They are not being allowed to wear headscarf," Farasat added."I will take a call on this," the CJI said.

The SC on January 23 had also agreed to consider setting up a three-judge bench for hearing pleas challenging Karnataka High Court's ruling of upholding the prohibition of wearing hijab in educational institutions of the state following a split verdict.

Senior advocate Meenakshi Arora had submitted before the bench headed by CJI that although the girl students pursuant to the ban had started going to private institutions, but the interim directions were required to permit them to appear for exams that are conducted in government colleges.

The controversy had arisen against the backdrop of the split ruling dated October 13 passed by a two-judge bench of justices Hemant Gupta (now retired) and Sudhanshu Dhulia.

Agniveer candidates must face online exam first

ENS @Bengaluru

THE Indian Army has announced an important change in the recruitment of 'Agniveers'. In the changed procedure, in Stage 1, all candidates who have applied online on joinindianarmy.nic.in (Join Indian Army website) will undergo a common entrance exam. In Stage 2, shortlisted candidates will be called for a recruitment rally, where they will undergo physical fitness and measurement tests. Finally, in Stage 3, the selected candidates will undergo a medical test at the rally location," said Maj Gen P Ramesh, Additional Director, Headquarters Recruiting Zone, Bengaluru.

"In the changed process, prominence is given to the 'cognitive aspects'. This will reduce large crowds assembling at the recruiting rallies and reduce the administrative arrangements," Maj Gen Ramesh said.

"Online common entrance exam is a computer-based test. To guide candidates, a video on 'How to Appear in Online Common Entrance Exam' is available on the Join Indian Army website and also on YouTube," he said, adding that candidates can take up practice tests online.

"For online common entrance exam, the fee is Rs 500 per candidate of which 50 per cent of the cost is borne by the Army. Candidates have to pay Rs 250 online, and should ensure that they have their cards activated for online transactions," he said, adding that after a successful payment, a roll number will be generated that shall be used at all stages of recruitment. He said around 40,000 candidates will be selected of which nearly 2,000 will be from Karnataka. The online registration which opened on February 16 will end on March 15, and the final exam is expected in April at 176 locations across India. Candidates will be intimated 10-14 days prior to the commencement of the exam. For queries, candidates can contact the helpdesk at 7996157222.

Maoist leader Rhino nabbed by police in AP

ENS @ Visakhapatnam

KEY Maoist leader Jalamuri Srinubabu, who goes by aliases Sunil and Rhino, was arrested following an exchange of fire in Sileru near the Andhra-Odisha border on Tuesday night.

Alluri Sitarama Raju district SP Satish Kumar said a police party was sent to Sileru on receiving information on the movement of a dalam in the area. "Police noticed the dalam when they were trying to enter AP from Odisha. Following a minor exchange of fire, we were able to nab Rhino. However, the other members of the dalam fled," the SP explained.

Besides his involvement in around 45 cases, Rhino was allegedly involved in the murder of Araku TDP MLA Kidari Sarveswara Rao and former MLA Siveri Soma, the SP said, adding that they would produce the accused in court.

According to police, Rhino, a divisional committee member of the AOB Special Zonal Committee, is a most-wanted Maoist in Andhra Pradesh, Odisha and Chhattisgarh. He has been active since 2000.

THOUSANDS of people travel every day to Bengaluru from Bangarpet and other stations enroute. As the Bengaluru Railway Division failed to put out a message about disruption of service on social media sites, thousands of passengers were clueless, and stranded at these stations.

Kumar, who was on the train when the electric wires snapped, said "There was no sound of wire or any equipment breaking. The train just slowed down and stopped. We all thought the train had stopped for level crossing. When the train did not start for a long time, the passengers noticed that the overhead equipment had broken down." Additional Divisional Railway Manager Kusuma Hariprasad said, "A total of 15 passenger trains were cancelled and one train partially cancelled due to the snapping of the overhead electrical wire. Around 5.30 pm, the track was deemed fit for running trains with diesel locomotives. OHE restoration work is under progress."

Bommai hails move to set up Mahadayi PRAWAH

ENS @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai welcomed the Union Government's decision to constitute Mahadayi PRAWAH (Progressive River Authority for Welfare and Harmony).

"In the direction of Implementation of Mahadayi Tribunal Award Government of India under the leadership of PM Shri @narendramodi has taken next step by taking decision for constituting Mahadayi PRAWAH (Progressive River Authority for Welfare and Harmony)," the CM tweeted. Thanking the PM for taking the decision, Bommai said it will pave the way for the implementation of the project. "This will pave way for implementing the projects of Karnataka." the CM added.

Jal Shakti Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat stated that Union Cabinet on Wednesday approved the creation of Mahadayi PRAWAH. "This will enable the compliance, implementation of the award & decisions of Mahadayi Water Dispute Tribunal," Shekhawat said.

Boy collecting gold dust dies inside drain

ENS @ Coimbatore

A 13-year-old boy died of suspected asphyxiation while collecting sludge from a drain for gold dust in Coimbatore early on Wednesday. Though banned, people still collect sludge from ditches looking for gold dust that gets washed away from jewellery units, sources said.

B Vignesh, son of Balan and Yogamani of Paramathi in Namakkal district, was a Class VII student. The couple residing in Ukkadam in the city also has a six-year-old daughter. The family is regularly involved in collecting gold dust, sources said.

As Balan could not do the work for the last one month due to health issues, Vignesh, who came to Coimbatore on a vacation, volunteered for the job. At 1am on Wednesday, Vignesh left his home to collect gold dust along with Balan's friend Vengaiyan. Around 2am, Vignesh got into a drain and squeezed through it for 3m and reached a spot near jewellery units. As the drain was narrow, Vignesh got stuck and died.

ZP begins probe into graft charges in Mekhali GP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Belagavi

EXPRESS IMPACT

THE Belagavi Zilla Panchayat has ordered a thorough inquiry into the allegations made by Sudha Siddappa Rajangale, a Gram Panchayat member of Mekhali village of Raibag taluk. Rajangale, who had alleged that a "commission" is being demanded to approve works under various schemes in the Mekhali Gram Panchayat. Fed up with the "commission" menace, Rajangale submitted her resignation as GP member at the general body meeting of the Panchayat on Tuesday (February 21).

The New Indian Express had carried a detailed report on Rajangale's allegations on how the panchayat development officer of Mekhali Gram Panchayat, and officials of the taluk and zilla panchayats were demanding 30% commission from the funds sanctioned for various works after implementation and 3% commission to approve the proposed works under 14th and 15th finance panels and MNREGA scheme.

JDS shared the The New Indian Express news cutting of the report on its official Twitter account. The JDS lashed out at the state government stating that the report reflected the pathetic state of the administration at panchayat level in the state. The "commission menace" could be even more at higher level as 30% is being collected at Gram Panchayat level. How can the state be developed if there is so much suffocation at the grassroots level, the party questioned. It alleged that the state government had become immune to such issues of corruption. The public is suffering due to the BJP government in the state, it said.

Meanwhile, speaking to TNIE, Zilla Panchayat Chief Executive Officer Harshal Bhoyar said, "I have instructed the deputy secretary of zilla panchayat to conduct an inquiry into the matter, and visit the Gram Panchayat and collect statements and evidence. The guilty will be punished."

NOW, FORENSICS A MUST IN DETECTION OF HEINOUS CRIMES

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA police have made it mandatory to use forensic services tools in investigation of heinous cases attracting punishment of seven and more years in all six commissionerates, to begin with.

"We propose to extend the facility to the rest of the state by the end of 2023. The push to use forensic expertise in investigation of heinous cases, which attract punishment of seven years and more, has come from the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA)," said Director General and Inspector General of Police (DG&IGP) Praveen Sood.

The Central government had last year directed all states and Union Territories to mandatorily use forensic applications in investigation of heinous crimes against women and children; offences under the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act; murder, attempt to murder, culpable homicide, acid attack, grievous hurt, outraging the modesty of women, rape, gang rape, robbery, dacoity; offences under the Arms Act, serious road accidents etc. Karnataka police are second in line after Delhi Police to use forensic services for detection of heinous crimes.

A circular from the DG&IGP's office was issued in November last year, following directives from the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA). "To achieve the goal, the Directorate of Forensic Science Laboratory (DFSL), Bengaluru, has procured 13 mobile FSLs. They will be stationed at the six commissionerates. These MFSLs will be equipped with 16 critical forensic kits. Additionally, the scene of crime officers (SOCO) will be deployed in all the units. They are currently undergoing training at the National Forensic Science University (NFSU) at Gandhinagar," added Sood.

The police chief's circular stated that in all six commissionerates -- Bengaluru, Mysuru, Hubballi-Dharwad, Mangaluru, Belagavi and Kalaburagi -- it will henceforth be mandatory for investigating officers (IOs) to summon and utilise forensic experts at the scene of a heinous crime.

"It is incumbent upon the investigating officer to summon for MFSL at the time of registration of the criminal case, where he feels the punishment is seven years and more. He will have to send a request to the deputy director of the regional FSL. IOs, other than the commissionerates, can also make similar requisition from the nearest RFSL/SFSL. The IO, after collecting seized samples with the help of forensic experts, will make the seizure memo and deposit them with the police station concerned, to be sent to RFSL/SFSL within the next 15 days, and the same will be recorded in the case diary," read the DG&IGP's circular.

Karnataka police have enhanced their capability in forensic investigation over the last few years. "The pendency (in forensic reports) has been drastically reduced in 11 of 14 forensic disciplines. In three areas -- DNA, cyber and audio-visual -- the waiting period has come down from three years to seven months. We are working towards further reducing it to one month. The state FSL was earlier handling 20,000 cases per year, which has gone up to 30,000 cases per year. By the end of 2023, we hope to increase our capacity to deliver 50,000 reports in one year. We also plan to open two more FSLs, at Shivamogga and Tumakaru, which will be dedicated exclusively to DNA, cyber, audio and visual. We also propose to have 40 MFSLs in Karnataka by the end of this year," added the police chief.

Enforcement Directorate raids offices, house of Joy Alukkas

KOCHI: Enforcement Directorate (ED) sleuths raided the offices of Kerala-based jeweller Joy Alukkas at various parts of the country on Wednesday for alleged hawala transactions. In Kerala, searches were held at Alukkas' head office and his residence in Thrissur. ED sources said the raids were carried out after the agency received a tip-off about hawala transactions involving Alukkas, the managing director of Joyalukkas India Ltd. "We are probing any violations of the Foreign Exchange Management Act involving Alukkas. In Thrissur, a team from ED, Kochi, carried out the raid. We recovered documents and electronic and computers. The collected material and pieces of evidence will be examined before we go ahead with the process for interrogation," said a source. Attempts to contact Joy Alukkas bore no fruit. ENS

Udupi's Swarna river to host dragon boat championship from today

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Udupi

CAMARADERIE, cooperation and teamwork will be on display as narrow boats with ferocious dragon heads are all set to slice through the calm waters of the Swarna river in Udupi district.

Over the next four days from February 23, Swarna River near Heroor in the coastal district will see a flurry of dragon boats as the 11th National Dragon Boat Championship will be organised here till February 26.

Around 700 participants will arrive from 15 different states for this championship which is being organised by the district administration in association with Indian Kayaking and Canoeing Association.

Those selected in this national championship will be eligible to participate in Asian Games to be held in September/October 2023. MLA K Raghupathi Bhat, who showed keen interest in hosting the championship in Udupi, said that dragon boat race has evolved into a competitive global sport.

Dragon boats that have arrived on the banks of River Swarna in Udupi district

It is an opportunity to host this championship in Udupi whereby prospects of this place in organising water sports championships can be explored more.

"Twenty-five participants in each category like men, women and mix will get selected from here to participate in the Asian Games. 200 metres, 500 metres and 2 km races will be organised in the championship," he said.

The dragon boats have already arrived at the venue, he informed. As several teams came from different states, they began practicing on the boats that are designed to look like a dragon's head, while the rear is carved to look like a tail.

In this water sports, 22 people sit on a narrow boat while the rest of the team works the oars; the one sits in the front beats a drum to egg them on and a coxswain steers the boat. There will be three reserve people also in one team. Captain Dileep Kumar, secretary, Kayaking and Canoeing Association of Karnataka, told The New Indian Express that the 10th National Dragon Boat Championship was held in Bhopal last year.

SEEING RED OVER KERALA CM'S 'FEAR OF THE BLACK'

Melanophobia is the extreme fear of the colour black. Of late, Kerala seems to be reeling under a compulsive fear of this colour. Waving black flags at the powers that be and marches have been part and parcel of any protest since the revolutions and industrial actions of the 19th century. However, the past two weeks have seen increased intolerance towards any form of protest, especially those aimed at Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan. This comes amidst an equally inexplicable expansion of his security cover as well. As usual, the common person bears the entire brunt of this senseless brouhaha. What with vehicular traffic being held up for hours, disruptive local travel bans, and, of course, the preventive custody of pre-identified troublemakers and history-sheeters—the entire political stage in the state has turned into one big farce.

The icing on the cake has been the blanket ban on using anything that is outwardly black in colour. Law enforcers have reportedly been preventing people from even donning black masks at functions attended by the chief minister. We have witnessed increased clashes between police officers and Opposition members attempting to wave black flags at ministers. Activists of the Democratic Youth Federation of India (DYFI) even beat up Youth Congress demonstrators in front of the police in the southern coastal city of Kollam. Intelligence sources acknowledge receiving authentic tip-offs on possible moves by political opponents to kick up a storm, especially during visits or functions attended by high-level functionaries.

As the state's chief minister, Pinarayi Vijayan enjoys Z-plus security. His cavalcade comprises pilot and escort vehicles, a strike force of commandos, and at least 40 police officers. No one argues against providing adequate security cover to the CM, but not at the cost of troubling the very citizens he governs, wherein even their livelihoods are hampered almost daily. Equality is one of the cornerstones of democracy, and our Constitution guarantees equal treatment to everyone before the law. Freedom of movement of any citizen can be curtailed only when serious breaches in the security cover of those in power are anticipated. These disruptions must be the exception rather than the rule, and the powerful should not claim such interference as a matter of privilege. Such Big-Brother antics are indeed paradoxical for a Communist government.

TRAFFIC MANAGEMENT OVER MORE FLYOVERS

The citizens of Bengaluru have set off on a collision course with the Karnataka government ever since Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai announced the Sankey Road flyover a couple of months ago. Residents are turning up for the 'Flyover Beda' (no flyover) protest and have put forth technical and environmental arguments since the adjoining Sankey Tank is also an important factor. For local residents, mature trees flanking the Sankey Road boulevard will be uprooted, and one of the Garden City's greenest avenues will be destroyed.

This is not all. A fortnight ago, Bommai suddenly announced 11 new flyovers across Bengaluru and claimed they would provide long-lasting solutions to traffic congestion. His claims do not appear to be based on ground reality—the city's existing 47 flyovers have done little to solve traffic issues. The first flyover at Hebbal remains gridlocked at peak hour; some have developed cracks and potholes, yet others are barely wide enough for two vehicles. Most of them are monstrosities which have inspired both memes and movies. There have also been numerous accidents, with victims falling to death from flyovers. Traffic experts opine that a two-lane flyover should be 8.5m wide for comfortable movement, but most of Bengaluru's overpasses fail to comply with this standard. Experts also say that flyovers do not offer solutions and that their placement is critical. Undoubtedly, the new expressways to the airport and Electronic City are better, but that is not reason enough to turn the city of gardens into a 'city of flyovers'.

It is apparent that CM Bommai wants to present a vision of a glitzy metropolis to poll-bound Karnataka but does not appear to have his finger on the citizens' pulse. He must remember that residents had stepped up to protest against the steel flyover project mooted by the Congress government and have also taken up legal battles for the city's tree cover. Citizens want the government to understand that such projects are self-destructive, and the average Bengalurean does not want flyovers. Instead of pumping crores into new flyovers, the government should focus on better public transport and traffic management. After the efficient ADGP M A Saleem was posted as Special Commissioner, Bengaluru's traffic situation has significantly improved. If experts are roped in, solutions can be found and implemented.

QUICK TAKE

SAFETY OF STUDENTS' DATA VITAL

The government has been facing questions about the safety and security of students' private data on ed-tech apps like Diksha. The public education app stores the personal information of lakhs of registered students. The allegation is a server storing the data was reportedly unprotected for a while, possibly exposing it to cyber thieves. It isn't the time for blame games. The government should immediately review the security measures of all such apps. Children's information is so sensitive even a leak of their name and school can endanger their safety. Updating the country's digital laws becomes all the more critical now.

The gains of an Indian carrier expanding fleet are not restricted to network growth and better connectivity

MEGA ORDER IS A MAJOR GAME CHANGER

JITENDER BHARGAVA

Former executive director, Air India, and author of The Descent of Air India

Even though the constraints of Air India had been diagnosed much earlier by an expert committee which had recommended structural changes, successive governments did precious little to overcome the inherent shortcomings. The NDA government did, however, make a half-hearted attempt in the year 2000 to disinvest, but the exercise failed to fructify. The government ownership thus continued for two more decades thereafter, with yet another exercise in 2018 evading success.

In the meantime, the stranglehold of foreign carriers on the Indian market grew even more furiously as the Indian policymakers erroneously felt that giving unrestricted additional capacity and access to major cities to foreign airlines was the best and easiest solution to cater to the rapidly rising travel demand.

Airlines such as Emirates, Etihad and Qatar airlines from the Gulf, to name a few, and notably Singapore Airlines from Southeast Asia, began funnelling Indian passengers from various Indian cities to their respective hubs for onward travel to destinations in Europe and the USA. Likewise, to destinations in Asia Pacific and Australia. A weak Air India, compounded by a lack of interest in private airlines to operate long-haul flights to Europe and the USA in later years, thus became a boon for Gulf and Southeast Asian carriers.

Air India coming under the Tata fold in January 2022 thus signalled a paradigm shift in market dynamics. A glimpse of what would unfold in the coming months and years soon became visible. Post-disinvestment, the Tatas took an aggressive approach to growth. Air India first leased aircraft—the fastest way to expand its fleet and network. It also paced the restoration of aircraft that had remained grounded for want of spare parts during the sarkari avatar. Both these measures enabled the airline to expand its network by commencing flights to new destinations or adding additional frequencies on underserved routes. Simultaneously, it began the integration of airlines under the Tata umbrella—Vistara with Air India, and AirAsia India with Air India Express—to become a dominant player in the market.

Even as the industry was gradually recovering from the pandemic, Air India quickly placed the now-much-talked-about mega order for 470 aircraft—250 on Airbus Industries and 220 on Boeing. These included both narrow-bodied 400 aircraft, which can serve domestic and destinations in the Gulf and Southeast Asia, and 70 long-haul aircraft, which can connect to any destination worldwide through non-stop flights from anywhere in India.

SOUMYADIP SINHA

Such was the size of the order that it evoked laudatory comments from the Indian prime minister, the French president, the US president and the British prime minister—something that had never happened before. Post the pandemic, with fears of recession looming large in Europe and the USA, world leaders saw immense prospects for creating new job opportunities.

President Joe Biden commented that "over one million American jobs across 44 states" (in the USA) would be created. Rishi Sunak, UK premier, expressed similar sentiments when he said:

"This landmark deal between Air India, Airbus and Rolls-Royce demonstrates that the sky's the limit for the UK's thriving aerospace sector." He added that it would create more jobs in the sector.

It is apparent from the mega order that Air India has plans to grow at least at the pace our market is growing, if not faster. Recognising India's potential, Campbell Wilson, CEO & MD of Air India, said that "it is one of the largest single aircraft orders by any airline, anywhere, ever, and testifies to India's unique combination of extraordinary scale and growth opportunity."

The induction of aircraft in a staggered manner over the next five years or so will enable Air India to enhance connectivity to and from India aggressively. With its limited long-haul aircraft fleet, Air India currently operates 47 weekly non-stop flights to five destinations in the USA, the largest global aviation market. Most of these flights operate from Mumbai and Delhi. The absence of direct flights from other major cities is helping foreign airlines to exploit our market. Once more long-haul A350s (five of the 40 ordered will be inducted in the second half of 2023) and B777s and B787s are available, Air India can harness the traffic originating or bound for other major Indian cities viz. Bengaluru, Hyderabad, Chennai, etc. through non-stop flights and record exponential growth.

Passengers prefer non-stop flights to one-stop flights that all Gulf and European carriers currently offer between India and USA because while non-stop flights take just 15–18 hours from any city in India to any destination in the USA, one-stop flights take six to 10 hours more. The introduction of non-stop flights by Air India will make the Air India product superior to competing airlines and provide better connectivity to the large Indian diaspora settled in the USA. Why would anyone opt for a one-stop flight when a non-stop flight is available?

The gains of an Indian carrier expanding fleet are not restricted to network growth and better connectivity but also to the generation of employment. Hitherto, when foreign carriers were ferrying Indian traffic, pilots and cabin crew were being hired by them. In the changed circumstances, our fellow citizens will get employment not just as pilots, cabin crew and aircraft maintenance engineers but also for ground functions.

Indigo has been a dominant player in the domestic market, accounting for 55% market share. Air India, Vistara, Air Asia (all Tata airlines), Go First, SpiceJet, Akasa, etc., share the remaining 45%. As the Indian domestic market has almost regained the pre-Covid level of passengers, one expects the market to grow. The prime minister only recently stated that the number of functional airports would be doubled from 74 to 147 in the coming years, thus increasing the scope for growth even further. The 400 narrow-bodied aircraft A320s and B737s, part of the mega order, will help Air India augment capacity—both for flying on domestic routes and to neighbouring countries in the Gulf and Southeast Asia. The intense competition is bound to help the travelling public.

One sincerely hopes that Air India's order for a record number of aircraft is a harbinger of many more good developments in the Indian aviation industry.

IS AIR INDIA DEAL SUCH A BIG DEAL

MANISH TEWARI

Lawyer, MP and former I&B Minister

Let me commence this piece with a caveat. I have been a principled opponent of the Air India disinvestment process. That automatically does not make me a supporter of decades of mismanagement and malfeasance that had plagued Air India. I believe the public sector has a role in the Indian economy—even in running an airline. If the Government of India can run the world's fourth largest railway network, it is hypocritical to even argue that the government should not be in another facet of the transportation business—Airlines. Then why not privatise railways and state transport undertakings—buses—as they also make losses and run on the state's largesse if the logic behind Air India's privatisation is that the government should not be a player in the transportation sector. Why Air India was singled out for special treatment still remains an enigma.

Selling assets, brands, and businesses created out of public money to a private entity, even if it is India's most respected corporate entity, is morally repugnant and ethically reprehensible.

What compounds the travesty was that the government squared up ₹61,131 crore of Air India's debt and other liabilities upfront before transferring it to Tata Sons for a measly cash payment of ₹2,700 crore. Tata Sons took ₹15,300 crore of Air India's remaining debt, which it promptly refinanced by bringing in new lenders. For all intents and purposes the government virtually gifted Air India to the Tatas. It almost seems like an invisible hand or an ideological sledgehammer was driving the sale of Air India.

I have long argued in myriad articles over the years that Air India was a ₹5 lakh crore company that is being sold for less than a song by utilising sophistry to justify an extremely discounted valuation.

My repeated questions in Parliament asking for details of the disinvestment process, including and not limited to the details of how the valuation was undertaken, the benchmark price arrived at, the process to be followed for selling it, the parties interested in purchasing it, and the relative offers by these interested entities was met with obfuscation and sophism—all these questions are on the PRS website.

Suppose Air India was such a basket case that it had to be taken off the government's hands at whatever price a garage sale would fetch. Why is it that the buyer of Air India decided to invest a ballpark of between USD 80–140 billion (₹6.60 to ₹9.60 lakh crores) in buying 470 aircraft from Boeing and Airbus with the option of purchasing 370 more, in all 840 or above over the next eight to 10 years?

Obviously, the company had great intrinsic value waiting to be unlocked, not limited to its brand alone, but lucrative global routes, parking slots, bilateral rights, fifth freedom and grandfather rights that it has across the globe. A failed, discredited, rejected or even 'damaged goods' that Air India was vilified as over the decades to prepare the ecosystem for its eventual offloading does not seem to be even remotely the case if the purchaser decides to put in close to USD 80–140 billion over a decade within a year of taking it over.

PTI

What will this USD 80–140 billion do for the Indian economy in terms of manufacturing jobs? Practically nothing is the short answer, for both Boeing and Airbus have a token, if not symbolic, manufacturing presence in India

The fact that the deal was greeted with paroxysms of euphoria by the presidents of the United States and France and the prime minister of the United Kingdom should come as no surprise because the deal would pour in much-needed liquidity into their respective economies but, more importantly, create real jobs at a point in time when recession looms large over the horizon and automation, robotisation and artificial intelligence are completely transforming workspaces across the manufacturing sector. Surprisingly, President Xi Jinping did not chime in his exultation as both Boeing and Airbus also have a significant manufacturing footprint in China.

With typical American candour, President Joe Biden bluntly underscored that "this purchase will support over one million American jobs across 44 states, and many will not require a four-year college degree." Prime Minister Rishi Sunak of the United Kingdom was equally forthright when he stated that the aircraft order would create better-paid jobs and new opportunities (read employment opportunities) in manufacturing hubs from Derby to Wales, which will help the UK's economy to grow and support our agenda to level up. The UK manufactures the wing of the Airbus, and the Rolls Royce XWB engines will power the Airbus A350 aircraft.

While French President Emmanuel Macron tried to peg the Tata Sons and Airbus contract as a mark of confidence in French industry and as a new phase in the Indo-French strategic partnership, the employment spin-off is a given in France's case since it is one of the principal players of the Airbus manufacturing consortium.

What will this USD 80–140 billion do for the Indian economy in terms of manufacturing jobs? Practically nothing is the short answer, for both Boeing and Airbus have a token, if not symbolic, manufacturing presence in India, which does not seem to cater to the type of aircraft ordered.

Of course, some service sector jobs may get created: Pilots, cabin crew, ground staff, maintenance, repair and operations (MRO), etc. However, given Air India's aggressive personnel downsizing, that may not even be the case. In any case, from the most optimistic best-case scenario, it would be nowhere close to the employment and technological upgradation benefits accruing to the US, the UK, France, China and even South Korea.

Will the deal bring any strategic benefits, i.e., help India get a seat on the UN Security Council, the Nuclear Suppliers Group membership, etc.? The answer is again no. For decades India has been buying defence equipment and other capital-intensive goods like aeroplanes from around the world. Every prime minister has desired to leverage these big-ticket purchases into geostrategic capital. However, all we have got is platitudes. It will be no different this time, and even the rhetoric by the beneficiary nations this time around has been more of patting themselves on the back for a great job done in procuring Indian business rather than thanking India for the vital employment and technological input into their economies.

India's push for EVs

Apropos of Welcome boost to EVs but plenty heavy lifting still remains (Feb 22). With the plan to invest in building e-highways with proper charging infrastructure, the Centre has taken a baby step in the right direction. It is also critical that the government shares a clear roadmap with OEMs and auto ancillaries and takes RWAs and housing societies along in order to create a smooth ecosystem.

Safety during protests

Showing black flags as the Kerala CM's entourage passes by is well and good but there is no need to run dangerously close to the cars as it is risky for protestors and persons in the car. Protests should be held in such a way that no one is hurt or under any threat and there is no restriction to movement. This is the way to protest in a democracy.

Psychologically sound police

Apropos of Physical, mental checks a must for police ranks (Feb 21). Considering the fact that the police personnel function in the midst of the general public, aptitude as well as mental equanimity are important. It is a welcome move that the Odisha Police is considering making these check-ups mandatory. Other states should replicate this move. A psychologically sound police force would prove to be more productive.

The Modi-Adani link

Of late, Modi has been attacked on the Adani issue and the media creates an impression by jumping to the conclusion that the two are inseparable. To make people less suspicious, Modi should address the media before one concludes with the proverbial 'no smoke without fire'. The quicker he does this the better it is—before the elections arrive.

Reducing Test duration wrong

Apropos of Early Test finishes are a sign of the things to come (Feb 21). The idea of reducing a Test match to four days from the traditional five just because most of the games recently have ended either in or before four days may not be right. Many longer Tests in the past have had thrilling finishes.

As Kharge talks of oppn unity, Rahul & TMC spar

Rahul accuses TMC of helping BJP, Abhishek says Cong irrelevant

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

ON a day Congress Chief Mallikarjun Kharge asserted that a party-led alliance would come to power in 2024 and that it was in talks with other parties to ally, a war of words broke out between Trinamool Congress (TMC) and Rahul Gandhi.

Rahul attacked the TMC on Wednesday, saying it was in the Meghalaya fray to ensure BJP's victory in the state, drawing a sharp reaction from the Mamata Banerjee-led party.

He spoke about "violence and scams" in West Bengal where it is in power. He also hit out at the BJP alleging it was like a "class bully" that respects no one as it thinks that it knows everything. "You know the TMC history, the violence and scams that take place in West Bengal. You are aware of their tradition. They spent a huge amount of money in Goa (polls) and the idea was to help the BJP. That is exactly the idea in Meghalaya," said Rahul.

Assembly elections in Meghalaya are due February 27.

TMC leader Abhishek Banerjee came back at Rahul, saying the "irrelevance and incompetence" of the Congress had put them in a state of delirium.

Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge addresses the 33rd plenary session of INTUC, in New Delhi on Wednesday | SHEKHAR YADAV

Abhishek Banerjee, who is the TMC national general secretary, said in a series of tweets that Gandhi must revisit the politics of vanity instead of attacking Bengal's ruling party. "It is people's love that propels us," Banerjee said.

On Tuesday, Kharge's assertion came days after Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar urged the Congress to take initiative to unite Opposition parties to challenge the BJP in the 2024 elections.

The Congress' pitch for a leadership role is significant coming ahead of the party's three-day plenary session beginning February 24 in Chhattisgarh capital Raipur.

Meanwhile, taking to Twitter, Kharge said that in 2024, an alliance government will come to power at the Centre and his party would be the fulcrum of the alliance. The Congress chief also posted the video of the speech he made at the election rally in Nagaland on Tuesday. "In 2024, the alliance government will come to power in the Centre. The party will lead," Kharge said.

Lashing out at PM Modi, Kharge said the party was not afraid even if '100 Modis or Shahs come'.

Jaishankar a 'failed' foreign minister, says Congress

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

A day after External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar's remarks on Rahul Gandhi, the Congress on Wednesday came out all guns blazing, calling him a 'failed' minister and alleging that foreign policy has become a chest-thumping exercise and is being used to secure contracts for a businessman.

In an interview, Jaishankar said that he was the longest-serving Indian Ambassador in China and it was PM Narendra Modi, not Rahul Gandhi, who sent the Army to the LAC.

Targeting the EAM, Congress leader Supriya Shrinate said that though he intended to criticise Rahul Gandhi, the minister ended up insulting the Armed forces. "The EAM said that India is the smaller economy and China is the bigger economy and we cannot go and pick a fight with them. Is he saying that India is not capable of protecting our territorial sovereignty?" she asked.

Launching a scathing attack on foreign policies, she said that there has been no US ambassador in India for the last two and a half years.

German chancellor to talk Ukraine conflict with Modi

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

AS German Chancellor, Olaf Scholz, prepares to make his first visit to India after he became the chancellor, one of the issues that he is likely to discuss with Prime Minister, Narendra Modi, is about the ongoing conflict in Ukraine.

On Wednesday, German Ambassador to India Dr Phillip Ackermann said, "I am pessimistic about Russia's intention to end the conflict. President Putin's speech in Moscow on Tuesday was aggressive. The sanctions that are imposed are temporary and can be lifted based on the response of the country. But, here, Putin isn't willing to change."

Germany along with many other countries in Europe is gearing up to vote against Russia in the UNGA, however they aren't sure of which way India would move on this.

"The decision to vote for, against or abstain is a sovereign decision . We can't say much about it. It's the same way like India's decision to buy oil from Russia as it comes at a low cost, their decision is final," the German envoy said.

Meanwhile, Chancellor Scholz will embark on his state visit to India with a large business delegation that comprises 12 CEOs that includes companies like SAP and Siemens. The Chancellor and Prime Minister Modi are collectively going to meet business leaders from both countries. Defence will be on the agenda too.

"Our bilateral trade is $30 billion now and we hope to increase it. We are also looking at the India EU FTA getting a boost and moving ahead," he said adding that there are more than 2000 German businesses operating in India.

Chancellor Scholz and PM Modi met twice in 2022 and this year too they would be meeting twice – on February 25thand then for the G20 summit in September. Chancellor is keen on meeting PM Modi annually.

There are four fundamental areas of the upcoming visit. These include cooperation and enhancement in business, cooperation on climate change and energy transition, skilled labour migration to Germany and geo-politics (which includes China and the ongoing conflict in Ukraine.

"Germany needs skilled labour and has approved migration from India. At present 35,000 Indians students are in Germany and 18,000 more in pipeline. After completing their studies students get a year to apply for a job and once they get it a work visa is issued, " Ambassador said.

India is a trusted partner in the Indo Pacific and Germany shares a lot of concerns with India on this and it will be a part of the bilateral talks between PM Modi and Chancellor Scholz.

Raise minimum age for class I admission to six: Centre tells states, UTs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

THE Union Education Ministry has once again "reiterated" and directed all states and union territories to "align" their age for admission to class I at six years in line with the National Education Policy 2020.

In a letter, the Education ministry's Department of School Education and Literacy has "reiterated directions to all the state governments and UT administrations to align their age to admission with the policy and provide admission to class I at the age of 6+ years." The letter was issued on February 9.

Officials said so far, they haven't received any communication from any state that they are not in favour of raising the age of admission to six years. "The letter was issued now so that all states could align their policy in line with NEP 2020, which stipulates the age of admission to class I at six years. We issued the letter in February before the admission begins in March," an official told this newspaper.

According to officials, the Kendriya Vidyalaya schools had already changed their policy and made the minimum age six instead of five years.

The NEP 2020 recommends strengthening children's learning at the 'foundational stage' as a national priority.

The foundational stage consists of five years of learning opportunities for all children (3-8 years of age) which includes three years of preschool education and two years of early primary classes I and II.

The ministry recently launched learning material for foundational years. "The policy thus promotes seamless learning and development of children from pre-school to class II. This can only be done by ensuring accessibility to three years of quality preschool education for all children studying in anganwadis or government/government-aided, private and NGO-run preschools," said a statement by the ministry.

Besides, the policy will focus on availability of qualified teachers trained in the age and developmentally-appropriate curriculum and pedagogy for the foundational stage.

Under NEP 2020, the National Curriculum Framework for Foundational Stage was also launched last year.

'India's sustainability crucial for world'

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @New Delhi

"INDIA'S sustainable development is critical not just for India, but for the whole world," said Dr Sultan Al Jaber – the president designate for the COP28, to be held in the UAE. Recognising India's effort to achieve net-zero emission target set under the Paris accord, he noted that India, which assumes Presidency of the G20 this year, will soon become the world's third-largest economy.

Al Jaber's message was read at the World Sustainable Development Summit (WSDS) in New Delhi on Wednesday, which was attended by Pm narendra Modi and global leaders Dr Bharrat Jagdeo, Vice President of Guyana; Naseer Ahamed, Sri Lankan Minister of Environment; and Jeffrey Sachs, director, Center for Sustainable Development in the Earth Institute.

PM Narendra Modi made the pitch for the collective action, instead of selective, responsibility of every individual to save environment today at the summit.

The annual summit is organised by The Energy and Resources Institute (TERI).

Minister of External Affairs S Jaishankar and Minister of Environment, Forest and Climate Change Bhupender Yadav also participated.

While underscoring the transition towards renewable and alternate energy sources, and adopting technology and innovation measures to find solutions to urban challenges, PM Modi said, "Environment conservation is a commitment and not compulsion for India".

Dr Jagdeo made a call to focus on equity and justice at forums such as G20 and COPs.

'Consensus among G20 nations can help global economy recover'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

STRESSING on consensus among G20 countries, Union Minister for Information & Broadcasting and Youth Affairs & Sports Anurag Thakur said that a consensus among the G20 countries on coordinated solutions to key global problems can help the global economy recover from the current slowdown and create new opportunities for growth and prosperity.

Addressing at the inaugural session of the G20 Finance and Central Bank Deputies (FCBD) meeting here on Wednesday, Thakur said since its inception, the G20 has time and again proven its mettle in forging consensus in times of crises.

"The Indian Presidency believes that success lies in our ability to anticipate, prevent and prepare for significant risks to come. This calls for an inclusive and renewed multilateralism," he added.

In his inaugural speech, the minister highlighted the importance of India's G20 presidency. He said the theme reflects the importance India places on collaborative efforts to address global challenges.

"The global economy is facing the lingering effects of the Covid-19 pandemic, food and energy insecurity, broad-based inflation, heightened debt vulnerabilities, worsening climate change, and geopolitical tensions. The impact of all these crises can set back progress on the world's key development priorities," the minister added. The G20 Finance Track discussions in 2023 will include strengthening Multilateral Development Banks to meet the shared global challenges of the 21st century, financing 'cities of tomorrow', leveraging digital public infrastructure for financial inclusion and productivity gains and advancing the international taxation agenda, among others.

MoU with Seychelles on maritime awareness

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

EXPANDING the network of information sharing to further the existing cooperation in maritime safety and security, the Indian Navy-affiliated IFC-IOR signed an MoU with the Seychelles-based Regional Coordination Operations Centre (RCOC) on Wednesday.

The IFC-IOR (Information Fusion Centre-Indian Ocean Region) is a regional maritime centre hosted by the Navy.

The Indian Navy, in a statement, said, "The MoU signed by Capt Rohit Bajpai, Director, IFC-IOR and Capt Sam Gontier, Director, RCOC aims to promote collaboration between the two Centres towards enhancing maritime domain awareness, information sharing and expertise development."

During the MoU signing, both the directors of RCOC and IFC-IOR unanimously upheld the need to enhance information sharing and analysis to cue actions at sea. The directors highlighted that 'this MoU will enhance trust and improve synergy between the centres towards furthering collaborative maritime safety and security in the Indian Ocean Region', as per the statement.

High Commissioner of India to Seychelles and senior officers of the IFC-IOR and RCOC participated in the signing.

IFC-IOR is tasked to collate, fuse and disseminate intelligence on 'White Shipping' in the Indian Ocean.

Since inception, IFC-IOR has established linkages with several multinational maritime security centres and the current initiative will enable deeper collaboration between the two centres. This approach will allow the centres to develop a common maritime understanding to counter non-traditional maritime security threats such as piracy and armed robbery, human and contraband trafficking, Illegal Unregulated and Unreported (IUU) fishing, arms smuggling, poaching, terrorism – with a special focus on the Western Indian Ocean.

The RCOC and the Regional Maritime Information Fusion Centre (RMIFC), in Seychelles, are a part of the maritime defence architecture in the Western Indian Ocean.

Keeping an eye on Indian Ocean

- Pact to enhance information sharing between India and Seychelles' maritime apparatus
- To promote collaborative maritime safety and security in the Indian Ocean Region
- Navy's IFC-IOR is tasked to collate, fuse and disseminate intelligence on 'White Shipping' in the Indian Ocean
- Seychelles-based RCOC and Regional Maritime Information Fusion Centre (RMIFC) are part of maritime defence architecture in the Western Indian Ocean

Prime projects in limbo: Power, Ayush ministries seek CPWD intervention

PARVEZ SULTAN @New Delhi

WITH no significant progress in sight, the ministries of power and Ayush have asked the Central Public Work Department (CPWD) to expedite construction of projects of national importance.

Besides, a new generators building at Central Power Research Institute (CPRI) at Bengaluru, the list of delayed projects includes 'One Health' institute at Nagpur and four National Institutes of Virology (NIVs) of the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) proposal under the Centre's flagship Atma Nirbhar Bharat Health Mission scheme.

In a recent letter to the director general (D-G) of CPWD seeking his intervention to fast track the work, the economic advisor of the power ministry stated due to 'excavation' undertaken at the site long ago, testing activities at the High Power Laboratory (HPL) at CPRI is suspended as digging had caused damage to the structure and other properties in the vicinity.

According to the note, the construction of new Generators building, new transformers bays, HPTR (High Power Transformer) test cell and new test cell under the project of augmentation of short circuit test facilities at the Laboratory was given to the CPWD in July 2020 for which administrative approval and expenditure sanction were also communicated in March 2021.

"However, the progress of project has gone up to the extent of excavation of earth only," the letter stated adding that the CPRI had already requested local CPWD office to do the needful on 'war footing' so that testing activities could be resumed at the Laboratory, read the communiqué.

The foundation stone of three NIV buildings and institute of 'One Health' were laid by the President Droupadi Murmu and Prime Minister Narendra Modi last year. The institution of medical excellence in Nagpur aims to further expedite in enhancing health research in the country.

The CPWD was entrusted with the responsibility of construction of these centres in 2021-22 and the first installment of funds was also released.

Yogi govt presents biggest Budget

At ₹6.90 lakh crore, UP Budget '23-2'4 focuses on infra, youth, jobs, women and farmers

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

PRESENTING the biggest ever budget, worth over ₹6.90 lakh crore, in the history of Uttar Pradesh for 2023-24 and the second of Yogi government 2.0 on Wednesday, State Finance Minister Suresh Khanna claimed that it would give a robust push to infra growth, welfare schemes and job creation besides taking adequate care of youth, women, farmers and deprived classes of the society.

"With a focus on infrastructure development for youth empowerment by creating more and more job opportunities, the UP budget 2023-24 is also for strengthening farmers and giving honour to women," said the UP Finance Minister.

While unveiling the budget, Khanna announced a 16.8 per cent growth in state GDP and downslide in the employment rate to 4.2 per cent against over 14 per cent in 2016-17. He claimed that the state economy painted an encouraging picture even amid the 'global recession' following the pandemic.

"The state's contribution to the country's GDP is more than 8 per cent. In year 2021- 22, a growth of 16.8 per cent has been registered in the Gross State Domestic Product, which was higher than the country's growth rate. The rate of growth in GSDP for the financial year 2023-2024 has been pegged at 19 per cent.

In the era of global recession, the growth rate of the state's economy is encouraging. Before 2017, the unemployment rate 14.4 per cent, today it has come down to about 4.2 per cent," the minister said.

With the announcement of new schemes worth ₹32,721 crore in UP budget-2023-24, the initial portion of Khanna's speech which was replete with couplets and poetry throughout. It carried the references to recently held Global Investors Summit which witnessed the signing of over 19,000 MoUs worth about ₹33.50 lakh crore intents for investment.

The 2023 UP budget assumes significance as it is an attempt by the Yogi government to woo different sections of society ahead of the upcoming Lok Sabha elections slated for April-May 2024.

Calling the state budget -2023-24 a consolidated effort to fulfil the aspirations of the people of Uttar Pradesh, UP CM Yogi Adityanath claimed that it would strengthen the foundation of 'Atmanirbhar Pradesh' (self-reliant state) on the lines of 'Atmanirbhar Bharat' (self-reliant India). The CM claimed that 110 of the 130 promises made by the BJP in its manifesto ahead of 2022 assembly elections were included in the state budget.

Meanwhile, the budget failed to impress the opposition. While Samajwadi Party president and Leader of Opposition in UP Assembly called it a directionless budget, Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) chief and former UP CM Mayawati summed it up as only a 'bunch of promises'. Akhilesh Yadav on Wednesday said that it had neither offered solution to the existing problems nor had put forward a strategy to chart the course for future especially when the BJP got a duration of six years to work.

Swearing-in of Fadnavis, Ajit in '19 helped revoke Prez rule in Maha: Pawar

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

NCP boss Sharad Pawar has gone along with the Maharashtra deputy chief minister Devendra Fadnavis that he had blessed the early morning swearing-in of Fadnavis and Ajit Pawar as CM and deputy CM respectively on November 23, 2019. However, that was meant only to revoke the President's rule in the state and pave the way for the Uddhav Thackeray-led government, Pawar unveiled the "master stroke."

Sanjay Raut, Shiv Sena (Uddhav faction) supported Pawar's statement. "The President's rule was gone within 24 minutes." Raut said, "Pawar has spoken the truth and he is grateful to both Fadnavis and Ajit, which helped to bring the Maha Vikas Aghadi government in Maharashtra."

Raut said had we requested the erstwhile Maharashtra governor Bhagat Singh Kosyari to revoke the Central rule, he would have ignored it like he did with the appointment of 12 MLCs through governor quota. "The BJP has to take 100 births to understand Sharad Pawar and his politics," said Raut.

He said had Pawar not taken the initiative, the BJP would have used Central agencies and other machinery to break the MVA and form their government. Fadnavis responded by saying that Pawar should also speak why the President's rule was imposed in the state. He said that the NCP chief has spoken only the half-truth. "If he speaks about why the Central rule was imposed, that will connect the many missing dots and people will understand the whole truth," said the senior BJP leader.

Meanwhile, Pawar on Wednesday said the Election Commission is supposed to treat everyone equally, but the way the dispute between two rival factions of the Shiv Sena was handled showed how it can be misused.

Soren seeking votes in name of child: Marandi

With merely a week left for Ramgarh by-polls, allegations and counter allegations between the ruling alliance and opposition are at their peak. BJP legislative party leader Babulal Marandi has alleged CM Hemant Soren of taking the help of a six-month-old child for political benefits and that he seeks votes in the child's name. Earlier, Soren was addressing a poll rally in Ramgarh where UPA candidate Bajrang Mahto was spotted on the stage with his child, after Mahto's wife — former Ramgarh MLA — Mamta Devi was jailed in 2016 firing case. Soren said the child was a victim of a conspiracy at the rally.

Pact to use fine arts for mental wellness

With an objective to utilise fine arts in promoting positive mental health and wellness, Central Institute of Psychiatry (CIP) in Ranchi has entered into an agreement with Krishnapur Nazrul Charcha Kendra in Kolkata. According to experts, it is one of its kind agreement wherein the use of music and other forms of fine arts in the promotion of positive mental health and wellness in people as well as people with psychological issues would be explored. As part of the MOU, Nazrul Charcha Kendra will be sending its team of musicians and artists to the campus often. They will also be training faculties and students on music therapy.

FIR against media outlets for spreading fake news

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Lucknow

THE Awadh Prant Pracharak Pramukh of RSS lodged a complaint on Tuesday on the basis of which an FIR was registered in Lucknow against around half a dozen newspaper organisations, news portals and agencies for purportedly spreading "fake news" about the Sangh.

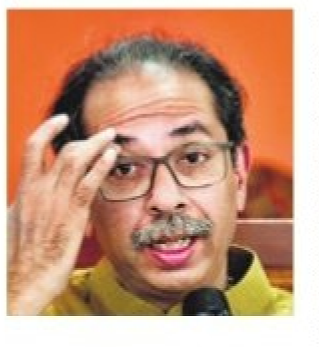
Initially the case was filed against three prominent media organisations based on a complaint filed by RSS functionary Ashok Kumar Dubey. Dubey alleged the three publications incorrectly reported that the RSS was seeking 100 acres of land in Ayodhya to construct its "second headquarters".

The FIR was filed under Sections 153A and 505 of the IPC which deal with promoting enmity and public mischief, and section 66 of the IT Act. Dubey called these reports a "deliberate act of maligning the image of the Sangh". He said the news reports "misled" readers despite him denying any such rumours when he was contacted by these media houses. It was done without any factual investigation, he added.

Blow to Uddhav as SC refuses to stay EC order on Sena's name, symbol

SHRUTI KAKKAR @ New Delhi

FORMER Maharashtra chief minister Uddhav Thackeray on Wednesday suffered a big setback in the Supreme Court as it refused to stay the Election Commission of India's order recognising the rival Eknath Shinde faction as the real Shiv Sena, granting it the right to the party's name and symbol.



A bench of Chief Justice of India D Y Chandrachud and justices P S Narasimha and J B Pardiwala issued notices to Chief Minister Shinde and the poll body, asking them to file their counters. "Counter affidavit to be filed within two weeks. Pending further orders of this court, the protection which has been granted in para 133(4) of the ECI's order shall continue to remain in operation," the court said.

The bench refused to accede to Thackeray's request to restrain the Shinde faction from taking over the party's office and bank account in Parliament and the state Assembly.

"Any further action is not based on the EC order. Then you have to pursue other remedies of law. It's a contractual relationship within the party. We are entertaining the SLP but we can't stay the order," the CJI remarked.

Lawyers for the Shinde faction orally assured that they would not take any precipitative action against the Thackeray group by initiating disqualification proceedings.

Appearing for Thackeray, senior advocate Kapil Sibal contended that although the ECI's order was based on the test of majority in the legislative wing, the former still had majority in the Rajya Sabha.

Senior advocate Neeraj Kishan Kaul, appearing for Shinde, contended that it was never his client's contention that the legislative party was not an integral part of the political party. "Till a disqualification is pending, MLA or MP has every right to vote and participate in the House. Same member of legislature party is also a member of political party," Kaul stated in his argument.

Rahul calls BJP a 'bully', Didi says will wipe saffron party out

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

IN election-bound Meghalaya on Wednesday, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee declared that her Trinamool Congress (TMC) would drive out the BJP from the country by giving it a "political medicine" while Congress leader Rahul Gandhi likened the saffron party to a "class bully". Addressing a rally, Banerjee appealed to people to vote for TMC, stating that it is the only alternative.

"When people have a disease, they want real medicine. Real medicine is our democracy – our vote. Cast your vote for TMC, we will give a political medicine to BJP and 'wash' it out of the whole country. I believe we can do this," she said.

"We will show the way how BJP can be washed out of Delhi. It is a challenge that we will defeat BJP in the 2024 elections," Banerjee said.

Pillorying it on the Hindenburg report on industrialist Gautam Adani, she said nobody knows when the Life Insurance Corporation (LIC) and the State Bank of India (SBI) would get closed down.

She asked the voters not to take money from BJP in the lead up to the polls, cautioning that it might recover the same through ED and CBI by conducting raids at households.

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi addresses a public meeting ahead of Meghalaya Assembly polls, in Shillong on Wednesday | PTI

Addressing a rally of the Congress, Gandhi said the BJP is like a class bully. "Many of you must have experienced a class bully. There is one fellow who thinks he is stronger than everybody and bullies everybody. One fine day, somebody in the class teaches him a good lesson and he stops. That is what BJP and RSS are," the Congress leader said.

According to him, BJP and RSS think they know and understand everything and have no respect for anybody. He said the two could be fought collectively but in a non-violent manner.

"The ideology of BJP, specifically RSS, is to try and destroy your culture, tradition, religion, history. We are standing with you in this fight. We are not going to allow the ideology of BJP to harm your language, tradition, religion, culture and history because for us, that would not be India. India is not a hateful, violent and angry country," Gandhi said.

He added unemployment and rising prices – particularly of petrol, diesel, LPG and food products – are the key issues that need to be tackled there.

Killing by cow vigilante: Raj cops identify 8 suspects, recover vehicle

RAJESH ASNANI & HARPREET BAJWA
@ Jaipur/Chandigarh

THE Rajasthan Police has identified eight suspects involved in the killing of two Muslim youths, Junaid and Nasir, allegedly by cow vigilantes from Haryana last week, state police ADG Crime Dinesh MN said on Wednesday. The two were from from Bharatpur district.

The ADG said that the Haryana Police is "fully helping Rajasthan Police" in catching the culprits.

A case was registered on Tuesday against 40 policemen of Rajasthan Police at Nagina police station in Nuh district of Haryana for causing miscarriage to the wife of an accused Srikant in the murder case. It led to a tense situation involving the police forces of the two states.

A preliminary report of the post-mortem indicated assault on Srikant's wife. However, the ADG said the incident was untrue and "we have full faith in Haryana Police." The ADG reached Bharatpur on Wednesday and met police officers in the region.

Bharatpur IG Gaurav Srivastava has said that the vehicle involved in the execution of the crime has been identified.

About the case registered against the Rajasthan Police, the ADG expressed confidence in the Haryana Police investigation. He said many facts came to light from the interrogation of Rinku Saini, the accused arrested in the incident. It was found that on February 15, some accused picked up Junaid and Nasir and took them to Haryana where they assaulted them in the forest and later burnt them in an SUV.

As per the Rajasthan Police, eight people were involved in the horrific crime. They have been identified as Haryana residents — Anil, Shrikant, Kalu, Kishore, Monu, Vikas, Shashikant and Anil. Of them, Rinku Saini, Lokesh Singla and Srikant are "informers" of the Haryana Police.

The Rajasthan Police is looking for the key accused Monu Manesar.

Bharatpur IG Gaurav Srivastava said that the police have recovered a white SUV used in the crime from a Jind gaushala. "Traces of blood have been found on the seat of the car," said the IG. He said the samples collected from the vehicle, the samples of burnt skeletons, and DNA reports of the family members will be matched. "Our investigation is on right track and we will be arresting the 8 criminals soon," he said.

Fresh cracks surface, create panic in Joshimath

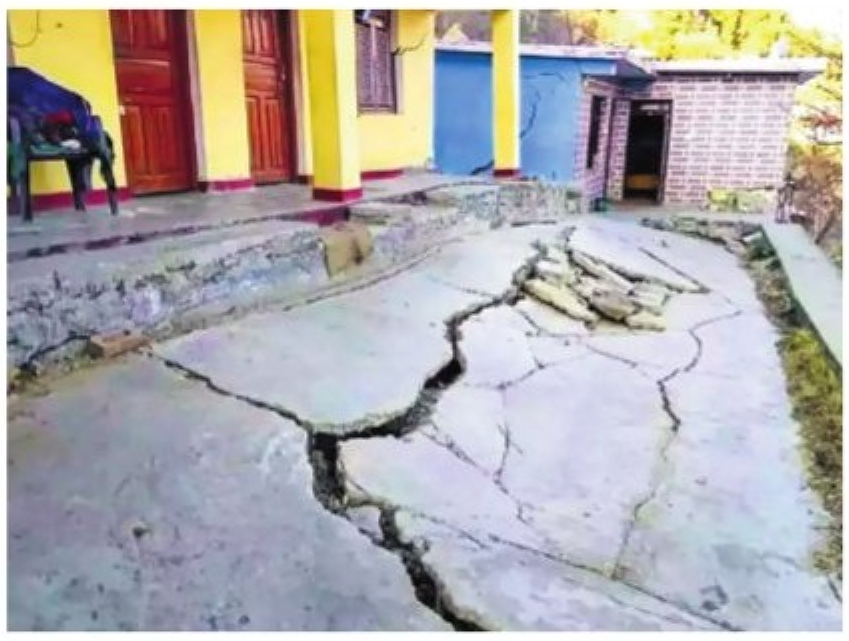
NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

FEAR has gripped Joshimath again around one-and-a-half months after many houses developed cracks following the land submergence disaster.

An experts' team has revealed that there are cracks as wide as 2 feet and as long as half-a-km in the town, an important destination on way to the Badrinath Dham.

Cracks have been widening ever since they became visible in the town this year. A team of four experts from Shri Dev Suman Uttarakhand University after conducting a survey has found new cracks in many areas.

Ved Prakash, a resident of Main Bazar, told this newspaper that there was a 300-meter-long crack from tower number one of the ropeway to the Mount View Hotel. The rift that occurred on February 2 is now gradually increasing. Similarly, on Wednesday, Border Roads Organisation (BRO) employees worked to level the highway in the area just below the petrol pump. The highway had collapsed for about two feet near the BRO office, where stones and mud were being filled.



After conducting a survey, a team of four experts from Shri Dev Suman Uttarakhand University has found new cracks in many areas | PTI

The district administration filled the cracks in the farm barn by adding soil, but in the last four-five days, new cracks have surfaced. The cracks are being seen in residential buildings and farms at Manohar Bagh, Singh Dhar ward and several other places in the city. In many places, cracks have become deep pits.

In the town, people affected by these cracks have been agitating for about two months. Many of them are leaving their homes and staying in relief camps.

NDRF TO COMBAT FOREST FIRES

As the Uttarakhand forest department is ill-equipped to contain forest fires, the Centre has entrusted the National Disaster Response Force (NDRF) the responsibility to deal with such situations. As much as 71% of the total geographical area of Uttarakhand is covered with forests. In Assam, this area is 34.21% and in Andhra Pradesh, 18.28%. Every year in these states, forest wealth worth crores of rupees is destroyed due to fire incidents. Speaking to The New Indian Express about the damage caused by fires every year, Chief Wildlife Warden Sameer Sinha said the NDRF deployment will help in creating a near-foolproof system to save the forest wealth. The 15th Battalion of the NDRF will operate in Uttarakhand, the First Battalion will be deployed in Andhra Pradesh and the 10th Battalion in Assam, official sources said.

China-Russia ties at new frontier, Xi to visit Moscow soon, says Putin

Further fuels speculation that Beijing may send lethal arms to prop up Russia in Ukraine

MOSCOW

RUSSIAN President Vladimir Putin said on Wednesday that China's Xi Jinping would visit Russia soon, amid US concerns that Beijing could provide material support to Russia's invasion of Ukraine, Reuters reported on Wednesday.

"Everything is progressing, developing. We are reaching new frontiers," Putin was quoted as saying by the British wire service.

Meanwhile, Russia and China showcased their deepening ties on Wednesday in a series of meetings closely watched for signs that Beijing might offer stronger support to the Kremlin for its war in Ukraine.

The visit by Wang Yi, the Chinese Communist Party's most senior foreign policy official, to Moscow comes as the conflict in Ukraine continues to upend the global diplomatic order.

Relations between Russia and the West are at their lowest point since the Cold War, and ties between China and the US are also under serious strain. Moscow suspended its participation in the last remaining nuclear arms control treaty with Washington this week. And the US expressed concern in recent days that China could provide arms and ammunition to Russia.

Speaking at the start of talks with Wang, Russian President Vladimir Putin hailed ties between the two countries and added that the Kremlin expects Chinese President Xi Jinping to visit Russia.

The Russian leader noted escalating international tensions, adding that "in this context, cooperation between the People's Republic of China and the Russian Federation on the global arena is particularly important for stabilising the international situation."

Wang said "the Chinese-Russian relations aren't directed against any third countries and certainly can't be subject to pressure from any third countries" but the specter of the war and the ways in which it has galvanised the West and deepened its divide with Russia hung over the meeting.

For instance, Wang emphasised that Moscow and Beijing both support "multipolarity and democratisation of international relations" a reference to their shared goal of countering the perceived US dominance in global affairs.

Wang's Moscow visit comes as US President Joe Biden wrapped up his whirlwind, four-day visit to Poland and Ukraine by reassuring eastern flank NATO allies that his administration is highly attuned to the looming threats and other impacts spurred by the war.

"When Russia invaded, it wasn't just Ukraine being tested. The whole world faced a test for the ages," Biden said in Warsaw's Royal Castle on Tuesday to mark the sombre milestone of the year-old Russian invasion. "Europe was being tested. America was being tested. NATO was being tested. All democracies were being tested." He called Russia's decision to suspend a nuclear arms reduction treaty with Washington a "big mistake". Agencies

Chinese weapons could end Kyiv's winning streak

AN INFLUX OF CHINESE WEAPONS TO RUSSIA, IF IT MATERIALISES, WOULD BE A GAME-CHANGER IN THE ONE-YEAR-OLD WAR

MAY ALTER COURSE OF WAR

Throughout the war, Russia has struggled to muster enough personnel, munitions and weapons to overpower fierce Ukrainian resistance

"Chinese munitions would make life very difficult for the Ukrainians, whether it's artillery ammunition, whether it's precision munitions or longer-range strike weapons which Russia is running out of," says Mick Ryan, a retired Australian Army major

"At the moment Russia is overmatched by the West. If China comes along, any advantage Ukraine had... disappears instantly," he added

WHAT'S IN IT FOR CHINA

- Many experts believe there is a bigger game at hand, and see Ukraine becoming a Cold War-style proxy conflict
- They say the prospect of a Russian defeat is at least as worrying for Beijing
- "If Russia is to lose in Ukraine politically or militarily, China will be left alone," says a professor of security and strategic studies at Perth's Curtin University

Russia fighting for its historical lands: Putin

Russian President Vladimir Putin said on Wednesday that Russia was fighting for its "historical" lands in Ukraine, speaking at a state-organised patriotic rally in Moscow in support of the Ukraine offensive. "I just heard from the top military leadership of the country that a battle is ongoing right now, for our historical lands, for our people," Putin said. Putin also praised Russian servicemen in Ukraine who are "fighting heroically, courageously, bravely: we are proud of them".

IMRAN'S SUPPORTERS BEGIN MOVEMENT TO COURT ARREST

Supporters of Pakistan's former prime minister Imran Khan's Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf party participate in a rally in Lahore, Pakistan on Wednesday | AFP

LAHORE

OUSTED prime minister Imran Khan's Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf party on Wednesday began a mass court arrest movement from Lahore over what it called the violation of fundamental rights, abuse of the Constitution and the economic meltdown.

The party shared footage of senior leaders, including former federal ministers Shah Mahmood Qureshi, Asad Umar, Senator Azam Swati and former Punjab governor Omar Sarfraz Cheema, sitting inside a police van. They asked the police present there to arrest them.

"Today 200 PTI workers and Lahore leadership including myself have presented themselves for arrest," said Qureshi, who is the vice-chairman of the party.

"This movement will continue until the imported government puts an end to the lawlessness in the country" and is held accountable for the last 10 months in the people's court, he added.

A large number of PTI workers and leaders gathered at the Jail Road. Some of the workers had chained and kept themselves in an 'artificial jail' they made.

The government has imposed section 144 on different roads including Mall Road Lahore under which not more than five people can gather there. "We have violated section 144 to go to jail," Qureshi insisted.

The Punjab government and Federal Interior Minister Rana Sanaullah, however, said that police will not arrest any PTI worker for violating section 144.

"Only those PTI leaders will be arrested who are wanted in corruption or any other criminal cases," Sanaullah said.

"The PTI leaders are doing photo sessions after boarding a police van in Lahore. They need political mileage through such stunts," he said, adding that through this campaign 70-year-old Imran Khan wants to create anarchy in the country.

Information Minister Marriyum Auranzeb said that the PTI leaders have attacked a police van. "The PTI leadership will be arrested for attacking the police van," she added. Agencies

China to lend $700 million to help Pak stay afloat

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN'S all-weather ally China has approved a loan of $700 million and the funds will be transferred to the central bank this week, Finance Minister Ishaq Dar announced on Wednesday as the cash-strapped country tried to avert a financial crisis.

The announcement by Dar on the loan by the Board of China Development Bank (CDB) came a day after Pakistan's National Assembly unanimously passed a money bill aimed at raising tax revenues to fulfil the demands set by the International Monetary Fund (IMF) for seeking a $1.1 billion loan facility to avoid an economic meltdown.

Dar said all formalities have been completed with CDB and the funds would be transferred to the State Bank of Pakistan.

Meanwhile, Pakistan Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif has ordered the foreign ministry to slash the number of missions abroad and reduce their offices, staff and initiate other measures to cut down expenditures of the debt-ridden nation by 15 per cent, a media report said on Wednesday.

The move to slash the missions abroad was recommended by the National Austerity Committee (NAC), constituted by Prime Minister Sharif to suggest austerity measures for the country amid the financial crisis.

We stand up for the BBC: UK minister in parliament

LONDON

THE British government has strongly defended the BBC and its editorial freedom in Parliament after the Income-Tax department's survey operations on the UK-headquartered media corporation's New Delhi and Mumbai offices over three days last week.

A Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office (FCDO) junior minister responded to an urgent question raised in the House of Commons on Tuesday to say that the government cannot comment on the allegations made by the I-T department over an "ongoing investigation" but stressed that media freedom and freedom of speech are essential elements of "robust democracies".

David Rutley, Parliamentary Under-Secretary of the FCDO, pointed to a "broad and deep relationship" with India which meant the UK was able to discuss a wide range of issues in a "constructive manner".

"We stand up for the BBC. We fund the BBC. We think the BBC World Service is vital. We want the BBC to have that editorial freedom," said Rutley.

"It criticises us (government), it criticises the (Opposition) Labour party, and it has that freedom that we believe is so important. That freedom is key, and we want to be able to communicate its importance to our friends across the world, including the government in India," he said.

Highlighting that the BBC is "operationally and editorially independent", the minister said the public broadcaster plays an important role and the FCDO funds services in 12 languages. "It will continue to do so, because it is important to ensure that our voice and an independent voice, is heard throughout the world," he said. PTI

Cutting visa waiting time for Indians our number-one priority: US official

WASHINGTON

PEOPLE-TO-PEOPLE ties form the bedrock of the India-US relationship and addressing the visa wait time issue is critical to maintaining them, senior administration officials said here.

Reducing the visa wait time is a top priority for Secretary of State Tony Blinken, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for South and Central Asia Nancy Jackson told Indian reporters at a roundtable organised on Tuesday by the State Department, along with the Foundation for India and Indian Diaspora Studies (FIIDS).

"As I look at the relationship, it strikes me that people-to-people ties between our two nations are really the bedrock of what is one of our most consequential relationships in the world and that's the US-India relationship. We can't underscore that enough. So addressing the visa wait times that we've been facing is critical not only to maintaining those people-to-people ties, but to expand them," Jackson said.

Nancy Jackson

FIIDS has been working with the Biden Administration for the past several months on addressing various issues facing Indian-Americans, particularly the visa wait time.

"It is the number-one priority that we're facing right now. We are absolutely committed to getting us out of this situation where anyone in India seeking a visa appointment or a visa would have to wait a long time. That is certainly not our ideal," said Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Consular Affairs Julie Stufft.

The State Department, she said, has taken several steps to reduce the visa wait time. These include more and more categories being waived off from visa interviews, sending dozens of officials to India to conduct the interviews, screening of visa applications by officials at the State Department here in the US.

"For first-time visitor appointments, we've cut a year and two months off the wait time already. Now, the second year we take off of that is going to be harder than the first, but we're going to get there," she said. "All non-visitor visa types — students, workers, and anyone who has travelled previously to the US — have very very low wait times.

Former dy minister banned from holding public office

Former deputy education minister Kanokwan Vilawan, who was found guilty of illegally occupying forest land, was on Wednesday banned for life by the Supreme Court from holding any public offices. The accused was found to have occupied three sites with fake title deeds that were issued two decades ago, Bangkok Post reported. In the case against her, the National Anti-Corruption Commission accused Kanokwan of breaking the law by grabbing land in Khao Yai National Park in Prachinburi province since 1990. Vilawan contered saying she purchased the lands from its previous owners. However, the anti-corruption agency said it found no records in this regard. Vilawan has also been slapped with a 10-year ban on taking part in any political activities. She was suspended from the party in August, soon after the anti-graft body accused her of land grab

Italy's Eni among oil firms roped in for exploration

Indonesia has roped in several companies to explore three oil and gas blocks, Reuters reported on Wednesday. State-owned energy firm Pertamina and Italy's Eni were among the firms roped in the energy ministry said Wednesday. Indonesia is set to offer 10 oil and gas working areas to contractors this year, Reuters reported. They include a block in the South China Sea. The country is aiming to make new discoveries and reach one million barrels of oil per day by 2030. Peri Mahakam block, covers over 7,400 square km onshore and off East Kalimantan province on Borneo Island, is one of the three blocks. Sangkar block with an estimated capacity of 130 million barrels of oil and 300 billion cubic feet of natural gas is among the other two blocks. Bunga, located east of North Java is the third site, as per Reuters

Teacher dies after student stabs her at class in France

SAINT-JEAN-DE-LUZ

A teacher at a school in southwest France was killed on Wednesday in a stabbing attack by a teenage pupil in the middle of a lesson, the regional prosecutor said.

The teacher of Spanish, 52, was teaching a class at the school in the seaside town of Saint-Jean-de-Luz when the pupil, 16, attacked her with a knife.

She was given emergency aid at the scene, but Bayonne prosecutor Jerome Bourrier told AFP she died of her wounds.

The pupil was arrested and was now being questioned by police in detention, he added.

The local daily Sud Ouest said the boy stormed into the teacher's Spanish class with a knife and attacked her.

The school, Saint-Thomas d'Aquin, is a private and Catholic-based establishment close to the centre of Saint-Jean-de-Luz, which in summer is one of France's best loved resorts on the sandy Basque country coast.

By lunchtime, pupils were gradually leaving the premises after being confined to their classrooms for around two hours after the stabbing.

Anxious parents were waiting for them but only those parents of the class where the stabbing happened were allowed to enter the school, an AFP reporter said. AFP

Entrepreneur with Kerala roots announces US presidential bid

WASHINGTON

INDIAN-AMERICAN tech entrepreneur Vivek Ramaswamy has launched his 2024 presidential bid with a promise to "put merit back" and end dependence on China, becoming the second community member to enter the Republican Party's presidential primary after Nikki Haley.

Republican Ramaswamy, 37, whose parents migrated to the United States from Kerala and worked at a General Electric plant in Ohio, made the announcement during a live interview on Fox News's prime time show of Tucker Carlson, a conservative political commentator.

He is the second Indian-American to enter the Republican presidential primary.

Vivek Ramaswamy

Earlier this month, two-term former governor of South Carolina and former US Ambassador to the United Nations, Haley announced her presidential campaign.

She announced that she will contest against her former boss and ex-US President Donald Trump for the Republican Party's nomination.

"We are in the middle of this national identity crisis, Tucker, where we have celebrated our differences for so long that we forgot all the ways we are really just the same as Americans bound by a common set of ideals that set this nation into motion 250 years ago," Ramaswamy said.

He calls 'wokeism' a national threat. "That's why I am proud to say tonight that I am running for United States president to revive those ideals in this country," he announced.

A second-generation Indian American, Ramaswamy founded Roivant Sciences in 2014 and led the largest biotech IPOs of 2015 and 2016, eventually culminating in successful clinical trials that led to FDA-approved products, according to his bio.

5 nabbed for break-in at Indian visa centre in SL

Colombo: Five people, including a 63-year-old woman office aide, have been arrested for breaking into the visa processing centre of the Indian High Commission in Sri Lanka, police said on Wednesday. The suspects were arrested on Tuesday, police said, a day after the visa application centre resumed work after being closed on February 15 due to a security incident. The woman, working as a janitor at the centre, allegedly tipped off her 54-year-old accomplice that usually cash worth Rs 3-4 million is kept in the office. The accomplice, along with the three aides, broke into the centre, which is located at a distance from the High Commission's high-security area, in the early hours of February 14. Two of the suspects then entered the building by breaking through a window, the police said in a statement.

FDI inflow falls 15% during Apr-Dec

Singapore ($13 bn) and US ($5 bn) were two top contributors of FDI during this period

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

FOREIGN direct investment (FDI) inflow into India fell by a significant 15% to $36.75 billion during the April-December period of on-going financial year 2022-2023(FY23), according to the latest Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade data.

FDI inflows stood at $43.17 billion during the corresponding period of the previous fiscal.

Total FDI inflows, which include equity inflows, re-invested earnings and other capital, declined to $55.27 billion during the nine month period of the current fiscal year as against $60.4 billion in the year-ago period.

Month-on-month, FDI inflow doubled in December to $4.4 billion versus November's $2.4 billion inflow. During April-December FY23, Singapore was the top investor with $13 billion FDI. It was followed by Mauritius ($4.7 billion), the US (about $5 billion), the UAE ($3.1 billion), the Netherlands ($2.15 billion), Japan ($1.4 billion), and Cyprus ($1.15 billion), the data showed.

Historically, Singapore and Mauritius have dominated FDI inflow in India, accounting for nearly half of the total investment made from April 2000 to December 2022.

The computer software and hardware sector attracted the highest inflows of $8 billion during the nine-monthperiod.

This was followed by services sector ($6.6 billion), trading ($4.14 billion), drug & pharmaceutical ($1.8 billion) and chemicals ($1.5 billion).

Among states, Maharashtra ($10.7 billion) and Karnataka ($8.7 billion) attracted maximum FDI inflow between April-December FY2023. Gujarat's FDI inflow stood at $4.1 billion while Delhi attracted investment of $6.1 billion during the period.

India's FDI inflow was reported at $58.7 billion in the financial year 2022 and a record $59.6 billion in FY21. However, total foreign direct investment into India grew by 2% to highest ever $83.57 billion in FY2022.

"In terms of foreign investments, FDI flows have moderated, tracking at 2.3% of GDP on a 12-month trailing basis as of November 22 versus 2.6% in November 2021, owing to uncertainty in the global macro landscape. We expect these flows to gain momentum in the coming months as economic conditions stabilize," analyst at Morgan Stanley said in a recent note.

Tribunal admits insolvency plea against Zee Ent

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE Mumbai bench of the National Company Law Tribunal on Wednesday allowed to initiate insolvency proceedings against Zee Entertainment Enterprises. The court appointed Sanjay Kumar Jhalani as the interim resolution professional.

"In the petition filed by Indusind Bank against the company under Section 7 of the Insolvency & Bankruptcy Code, 2016, the National Company Law Tribunal, Mumbai Bench (NCLT) has pronounced its order dated February 22, 2023 admitting the company to corporate insolvency resolution process under the provisions of the Code," said Zee Entertainment Enterprises in a filing to the Bombay Stock Exchange on Wednesday.

This comes after the bank in its plea before the NCLT claimed a default of ₹83.08 crore against the media and entertainment firm. Under Section 7 of IBC, a financial creditor may move NCLT for initiation of CIRP over default of ₹1 crore and above.

According to the filing, ZEEL is a party to the Debt Service Reserve Account (DSRA) Guarantee Agreement entered into with IndusInd Bank for the term-loan facility advanced to another Essel Group firm, Siti Networks Ltd.

Zee Entertainment is in the middle of a merger with Culver Max Entertainment Pvt., an indirect, wholly owned subsidiary of Sony Group Corp. Board of directors of Zee Entertainment Enterprises Ltd (ZEEL) on December 22 last year had approved the merger with Sony Pictures Networks India. As per the deal, Sony would invest $1.575 billion and hold a 52.93% stake in the merged entity and Zee will have the remaining 47.07%.

Last month, Axis Bank's subsidiary Axis Finance had threatened legal action against Subhash Chandra and Punit Goenka, MD and CEO, Zee Entertainment including opposing merger between Zee and Sony Pictures Network India.

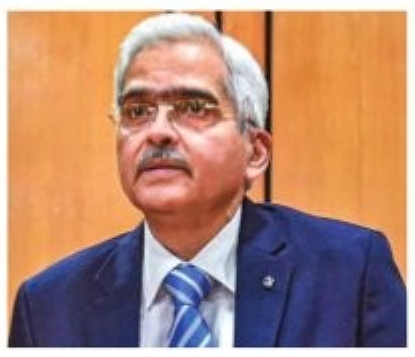
Private lender IDBI bank had also moved the NCLT against Zee seeking insolvency proceedings to recover dues of ₹149.60 crore in mid-December last year. As per a regulatory update from the media major, the claim has been disputed by Zee.

Zee Entertainment is also at loggerheads with its largest shareholders Invesco and OFI Global China Fund.

The shareholders are seeking removal of Punit Goenka and appointment of six new independent directors.

₹83 cr cr default claim against ZEEL

This comes after Indusind Bank in its plea before the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) claimed a default of ₹83.08 crore against the media and entertainment firm. Under Section 7 of IBC, a financial creditor may move NCLT for initiation of CIRP over default of ₹1 crore and above



MPC members divided on further policy rate hike

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

MAJORITY of the members of the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) favoured raising interest rate saying that it would be hasty to ease vigil against inflation while some voted for a pause as tighter monetary policy poses risk to economic growth.

The minutes of the February 6-8 MPC meeting released by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Wednesday showed external members Jayanth Varma and Ashima Goyal were not in favour of raising rates any further, while Shashanka Bhide sided with the three Reserve Bank members and voted for raising the key policy rate for the sixth time in a row.

The MPC, headed by RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das, raised the repo rate by 25 bps to 6.5% from 6.25% taking the total quantum of rate hikes since May 2022 to 250 bps.

"We must, therefore, remain unwavering in our commitment to bring down inflation to ensure a decisive and durable moderation in inflation towards the target of 4% over the medium term, while being mindful of growth," said Das.

Sensex, Nifty crash 1.5% on global cues, fear of more rate hikes by Fed

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

OWING to weak global cues and overnight selling in the US market over fears of more interest rate hikes, domestic equity market witnessed a massive fall on Wednesday, with benchmarks - BSE Sensex and NSE Nifty50- plummeting over 1.5% each ahead of monthly F&O expiry.

Investors also turned cautious ahead of the release of the monetary policy minutes of the Reserve Bank of India and the US Federal Reserve. Russia's fresh warnings to the West on the war in Ukraine also spooked investors.

RBI has indicated that it will continue to take measures to ensure that inflation remains within the target going forward.

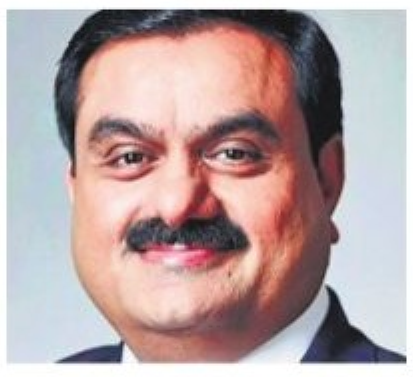
At close, 30-share index Sensex was down 927.74 points or 1.53% at 59,744.98, and the Nifty fell 272.40 points or 1.53% to settle at 17,554.30. With the Sensex falling below 60,000 levels, investors' wealth wiped out by ₹3.87 lakh crore on Wednesday.

"Resurgence of cold war between the US and Russia has brought apprehension in the market. Though it should be a short-term effect, the fear of sanctions against Russia and its degree of implication on the economy, especially on food and oil exports, is adding to the anxiety," said Vinod Nair, head of research at Geojit Financial Services.

The market is just recovering from the pandemic and high interest and inflation are the headwinds in the background. It is presumed that this war will be fought on an economic front, limiting its effect on strong economies like the US & India, added Nair.

According to Shrikant Chouhan, head of equity research (Retail), Kotak Securities, overnight slump in the US markets shook the Indian stocks badly.

"Markets were already range-bound with a negative bias in the last few sessions and today's sharp fall could further accentuate the pressing concerns of rising interest rate going ahead, higher inflation, and slowing global growth," added Chouhan.



Adani Group loses ₹51K cr, m-cap falls to ₹7.58L cr

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

ROUT in Adani Group stocks escalated on Wednesday, with shares of all 10 listed entities ending in the red and wiping out investors' wealth by over ₹51,000 crore.

The port-to-power conglomerate's flagship firm Adani Enterprises was the top loser in the Adani pack and Nifty50 index. The scrip ended 11% lower to close Wednesday session at ₹1,397.50. Five other group stocks - Adani Transmission, Adani Total Gas, Adani Power, Adani Wilmar, and Adani Green - were locked in their 5% lower circuit limits. Adani Power fell 5% and NDTV also hit a lower circuit of 5%. Shares of Adani Ports & SEZ and ACC fell 7% and 4%, respectively.

Since the release of Hindenburg Research report on January 24, the combined market capitalisation of the Group has plunged by ₹11.62 lakh crore to ₹7.58 lakh crore. Adani Group's m-cap was valued at ₹19.20 lakh crore on January 24.

Hindenburg, the US-based short-seller, has made allegations of stock manipulation, lapses in corporate governance and accounting fraud by the Adani Group.

Following the report, Adani Group has faced several setbacks such as few global banks stopped accepting its bonds as collateral, MSCI Index reduced weightage and rating agency Moody's downgraded the outlook of four group companies.

JSW, Adani among bidders shortlisted for NMDC Steel

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

JSW, Jindal Steel and Power (JSPL), Essar Group and Adani Group are among the five shortlisted bidders for the strategic disinvestment of government-owned under-construction plant – NMDC Steel Ltd – at Nagarnar, Chhattisgarh.

NMDC Steel was recently demerged from NMDC Ltd. The central government will offload 50.79% of its 60.79% shares in the Nagarnar unit that is being set up with an investment of ₹20,000 crore. The new plant with an annual capacity of 3 million tonnes per annum is likely to be commissioned by the end of current fiscal.

Experts are saying the government may get over ₹25,000 crore based on the plant's capacity and investment already occurred. "Adani May not be the serious contender due to the ongoing controversy," one of the sources said while further adding that Tata Steel is not among the shortlisted bidders. The 3 MTPA plant sale will be a big big win for the government.

The government had received multiple expressions of interest (EoI) for the disinvestment of NMDC Steel on the last date of EoI submission, which was January 27. The plant is 290 km away from the Vizag port. Though it is running behind schedule, it is likely to be highly profitable as it is in proximity to mines and ports and has captive iron ore mines. Also high quality equipment and technology are being supplied by high-quality European players, as per market experts. NMDC Steel got listed on February 20 with an opening price of ₹30.25 on the BSE and immediately hit the 5% upper circuit.

Form 26AS to display only TDS and TCS data

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

FORM 26AS will only display details of tax collected at source (TCS) and tax deducted at source (TDS) from the assessment year 2023-24 onwards, the income tax department has said.

Currently, Form 26AS also shows the details of advance tax paid by assesses along with the self assessment tax, income tax refund and turnover as per GSTR-3B besides TDS and TCS. Now these details would be available on the annual information statement (AIS) on the income tax e-filing website.

Amit Maheshwari, Tax Partner, AKM Global, a tax and consulting firm, said: "This may help in making the return filing process fully compliant as AIS is more comprehensive where all the transactions entered by the taxpayer are reflected irrespective of whether applicable tax has been deducted or not. However, it would be interesting to see if a taxpayer would be able to submit the feedback to such transactions, which were earlier in form 26AS and whether the same will be updated on a real time basis. It will also be cumbersome for the taxpayers since they will have to look at two set of documents now to file the tax return."

Chetan Daga, chartered accountant and founder at AdvantEdge Consulting said the income tax department is planning to migrate the taxpayer information from the Form 26AS to AIS.

'Cos need to improve self-governance'

SACHIN KUMAR @ Mumbai

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE BOARD OF INDIA'S (Sebi) executive director VS Sundaresan said there is an urgent need to increase level of self-governance, as the cost of compliance and non-compliance has gone up, for people prefering to fight it out than reach a settlement

"Cost of compliance has increased of late and so is the cost and the instances of the non-compliance and resultant increase in the number of litigations. So the only way out, I feel, is to increase self-governance," said Sundaresan, addressing a seminar on capital markets organised by Associated Chambers of Commerce and Industry (Assocham) in Mumbai.

"Why do we have this kind of litigation mindset? Isn't there a better way of resolving disputes? The time we are wasting in litigation can be diverted towards a productive purpose," Sundaresan said.

Citing example of the two-decade-old disputes in telecom sector, especially on the issue regarding AGR (adjusted gross revenue) based revenue sharing model with the government, he said after the long legal battle, the government was forced to convert their dues into equity in one company and give extended payment schedules to the rest of the industry.

India women hone in on an Australian weak spot ahead of T20 World Cup semifinals at the Newlands

CAPE TOWN

EK aur daal do please (one more ball, please),” says Shafali Verma to Shikha Pandey in one of the nets at the Newlands Stadium on Wednesday morning. You can feel the heat with the Sun beating down, but inside the nets, Verma was feeling a different kind of heat. She was just beaten by a sharp bouncer from Pandey. The 33-year-old had trapped Verma on the pads, beaten and taken the outside edge of Smriti Mandhana, and was steaming in since the session began.

Pandey obliged. The next bouncer was a top-edge as Verma shuffled across to pull it. Pandey mixed it up with some good length deliveries as well before coming out with the third which Verma played to perfection. When it seemed like Pandey was asking if Verma was able to read it from her hand, the batter replied that because it was only on knee height, it was easier — both walked back to their crease with a smile.

In the adjacent net, Jemimah Rodrigues was facing throwdowns to perfect her drives and shots down the ground. Batting coach Hrishkesh Kanitkar was constantly in Verma and Rodrigues' ears, asking the former to play her natural game. The latter has been constantly picking his brain through the tournament. Rodrigues, often, is among the first to enter the nets and last to leave. At the other end of the nets was bowling coach Troy Cooley, with a keen eye on each bowler in the nets.

While some of the first XI players, including captain Harmanpreet Kaur, skipped the optional practice session, the preparations were intense. They know the challenge that lies ahead; Australia. They know what is at stake and what they need to do to have a chance at beating a team that has technically lost only two T20Is since the previous World Cup. Before even getting into the nets, they had a 30-minute-long fielding as well as catching session on the main ground. And in the nets, Rajeshwari Gayakwad was bowling at the stumps, trying to get her releases and variations right while discussing with Cooley. Richa Ghosh was basically doing what she does in the match — hitting bowlers out of nets while holding her shape.

In fact, it was the teenager who addressed the media ahead of the semifinal of the T20 World Cup. As she does on the field, Ghosh was oozing confidence in front of a microphone as well. “We can beat Australia; it's not as if they can't be beaten,” said the wicketkeeper-batter. “We had defeated them in a match during the T20I series in India in December and have beaten them earlier too. Sure, they are a strong team, but we can beat them.”

> We can beat Australia; it's not as if they can't be beaten
> RICHA GHOSH

Just before she turned up for the press conference, she, along with her teammates, were practicing for every bowler in the Australian line-up. Every time a type of bowler was bowling, comparisons were made to a similar bowler from the opposite side and what should be expected in the match — off-spin, leg-spin, left-arm, pace, you name it, they did it all. When asked if India found any kind of weaknesses at all in this Australian side, Ghosh kept her cards close. “Yes, we have worked out the weak spots and planned for that too. But if we share the weak points, they will obviously be ready. So, I don't want them to be prepared for anything right now and help them get any information,” she smiled.

At the other end of the spectrum, Australian captain Meg Lanning was not taking anything for granted at all. They beat India in the 2020 T20 World Cup final and the 2022 Commonwealth Games final, but for Lanning, none of that matters. “Both teams start at the same level tomorrow (Thursday) when we come out and play. What's happened in the past doesn't make a difference. We need to come out and play our best cricket and play the way that we want to,” said the 30-year-old.

In their nets, Ashleigh Gardner was working on her lines and lengths — the contest between her and Mandhana is one to watch — while Darcie Brown and Heather Graham were practicing yorkers with a marker on the batting crease. Despite the depth of their line-up they, too, know that if there is a team that could get better of them on a given day, it is India. They have been there before in the 2017 ODI World Cup semifinal.

Things can go either way. The key, however, is that both teams are doing everything in their power to put on a show. And at some level, the group that has the last laugh on Thursday could be the one that goes all the way. Who has a better chance? As Ghosh said, the one who is mentally strong on the day and plays to their full potential will.

HIGHLIGHT REEL

WITH THE GROUP STAGE OF THE WORLD CUP COMING TO AN END, A LOOK AT THE MOMENTS OF THE TOURNAMENT SO FAR...

THE RISING STAR

If you had followed the U-19 World Cup, what Marufa Akter did here would not have come as a surprise. The Bangladesh pacer, who was working in her father's paddy fields two years ago, set the stage on fire with her fiery brand of pace in this tournament. Her spell against Sri Lanka and Australia will be remembered

BEST MATCH

They might have exited early, but Sri Lanka gave the match of the tournament so far in the opening game against South Africa. In front of a packed crowd, Chamari Athapaththu led her side to an inspiring victory in a last-ball thriller. It was a collective team performance that not many had expected, especially on the first day of the World Cup

LEADERS, EVERYWHERE

One of the biggest highlights of the tournament has been how the captains have been honest about their team's performances. Bangladesh's Nigar Sultana, Sri Lanka's Athapaththu, New Zealand's Sophie Devine, and Ireland's Laura Delany have all come to the front to defend the youngsters in the team, to take ownership of the campaigns and reflect on what needs to be done in their respective domestic systems

HISTORY MADE

Not too long ago, Muneeba Ali was struggling with her T20I strike rate. Anointed as a prodigy by the former coach Mark Coles, the Pakistani southpaw took her time to own her place on the global stage. Now? She will go down as the first woman from her country to score a T20I century

THE IMPACT OF WPL

Hope franchises take note of Orla Prendergast, said Ireland captain Delany in her last press conference. As much as they have tried to keep out of it, players have admitted the kind of impact the WPL auction has had on them and their teammates, especially those who were not picked. At some level, the reactions have given a sense of the direction in which women's cricket is headed to at a rapid pace

CLASH OF THE TITANS

AS INDIA TAKE ON AUSTRALIA IN THE SEMIFINAL OF THE 2023 T20 WORLD CUP , A LOOK...

THE SHORT BALL CONUNDRUM

It's coming. It's definitely coming. Australia have Darcie Brown who's going to steam in and try to rattle the Indian top-order. How Shafali Verma and Smriti Mandhana handles the first six overs will set the tone for the rest of the innings.

1 India are the only team to have come out on the right side of the result against Australia in last 18 months

INDIAN PACERS VS HEALY

Whether it's the 2021 series or the CWG or the one in Dec 2022, Alyssa Healy has been troubled by the incoming deliveries from the Indian pacers early on. It will be interesting to see if the trend continues in Newlands on Thursday

SIXES WIN MATCHES

While Richa Ghosh said that it will depend on situations, number of sixes will be crucial. Mandhana tops the charts, but given the dimensions at Newlands and the firepower Australia has, it could all change

Today's match: India vs Australia, 6.30 PM, Cape Town ▶ Live on Star Sports Network

PROTEAS KEEP HOPES ALIVE

CAPE TOWN: They needed a win to make the semifinals and South Africa got exactly that in their last group game against Bangladesh on Tuesday. With over 6000 people turning up for them at Newlands, Proteas brought their A game to the fore when they needed it. Next stop, semifinals against England on Friday.

Brief scores: Bangladesh 113/6 in 20 ovs (Kapp 2/17) lost to South Africa 117/0 in 17.5 ovs (Wolvaardt 66 n.o)

TESTING TIMES

THE VISITORS CONTINUE TO MULL CHANGES AHEAD OF THE THIRD TEST BEGINNING IN INDORE NEXT WEDNESDAY. A LOOK AT ALL THE UPDATES...

AGAR LEAVES FOR AUSTRALIA

Ashton Agar, who began the tour as the side's second-spinner, has left for home. He will play for Western Australia in the closing stages of the country's domestic season. “(Agar) has worked incredibly hard, he's done his absolute best to support the team. We acknowledge all work he's done, he's worked his backside off,” Tony Dodemaide, national selector, was quoted as saying. However, he's expected to be back for the ODI leg

'CUMMINS' LACK OF KNOWLEDGE HURT HIM'

Pat Cummins, who is back home for personal reasons, has continued to be the target of criticism for the way he has handled the first two Tests. Speaking for SEN Radio, Geoff Lawson, a fearosme pacer in his pomp, said: “Cummo (Cummins) has so little experience captaining on spinning wickets, in the contemporary game your captain plays very little Sheffield Shield, and he certainly doesn't play on spinning wickets,” he said

ASHWIN MOVES UP IN ICC RANKINGS

Offier R Ashwin, who has been amongst the wickets in the first two Tests, has risen by a rung in the latest ICC rankings. The other Indian bowler in the top-10 is Ravindra Jadeja, making a comeback to the Test team after missing out with an injury. Jadeja moved up seven places to be in ninth place thanks to his 10th wicket haul that helped him win man of the match award

Ramkumar in doubles quarters

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bangalore

RAMKUMAR Ramanathan and Francesco Maestrelli entered the doubles quarterfinals of the Bengaluru Open 2023 with a 6-2, 7-6 (4) win over Colin Sinclair of North Mariana Islands and Miljan Zekic of Serbia here on Wednesday.

Sinclair and Zekic had replaced Sumit Nagal and Sasikumar Mukund after they withdrew from the event.

Anirudh Chandrasekhar and N Prashanth also booked their berth in the quarterfinals with a 7-5, 6-2 win over SD Prajwal Dev and Parikshit Somani. Another India player Arjun Kadhe, in the company of Max Neuchrist of Austria, also reached the last eight, with a 7-6 (5), 6-4 over Petr Nouza and Andrew Paulson of Czech Republic.

In singles, top seeded Chun-Hsin Tseng of Taipei moved into the quarterfinals with a hard-fought 6-2, 5-7, 7-6 (4) win over fellow countryman Yu Hsiou Hsu.

Results (Singles, Round of 16): (1) Chun-Hsin Tseng beat Yu Hsiou Hsu 6-2, 5-7, 7-6 (4), Harold Mayot beat (3) Ryan Peniston 7-6 (5), 6-0, James McCabe beat Marc Polmans 7-5, 7-5, Hamad Medjedovic beat Nicolas Moreno De Alboran 6-3, 5-7, 6-4.

Cutting into training time, but love what I'm doing with IOA: Sharath

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Chennai

WHEN A Sharath Kamal was elected as the vice-chairperson of the Athletes Commission of the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) in November, he was looking forward to the role. Three months later, he has found out that the role 'has cut into my training time'. While he's loving the additional administrative responsibility of being the vice-chairperson, he has been figuring it out a way to ensure his training remains uncompromised.

“Yes, it has cut into my training time,” he tells this daily after coming back to the city post a flying visit to New Delhi on IOA EC matters. “I'm figuring it out, but I love what I'm doing with the IOA.”

It's cut into his training time because for somebody in his post, he cannot ignore issues. “There was the issue with the Wrestling Federation (of India), that needed immediate attention. I'm also part of the ITTF Athletes Commission so that has also taken up some space because you have to liaise with the International Olympic Committee (IOC). Even day before yesterday (Monday), I had to go to New Delhi for a day because of the IOA EC meeting. It was supposed to be an online meeting but since this was a new team...”

Sharath Kamal

However, one of India's most decorated athletes of all time, the 40-year-old paddler is gradually getting back into competition mode after 'basking in the glory' post the Commonwealth Games, ITTF and IOA appointments.

“Till December, I think you could say basking in the glory of a few things. I have started working towards the next three events (WTT Star Contender in Goa this month, Singapore Smash and World Championships) from the beginning of February.”

One part of juggling both roles is to ensure his team do their thing. “This is where my team ensures I stay in the moment. If my fitness coaches tell me to do it, it has to happen at that moment. I have lost three kilos in three weeks. Sessions have become more intense.” He also brought a lot of Indian players under one roof in Chennai to spar with.

“There were about 16 players in Chennai, people coming in from Hyderabad and so on, to train with, spar with.” By the time he lands in Goa for what is the biggest international table tennis event this country has ever hosted, Sharath is hopeful of being in game mode.

Meanwhile, Sharath will be able to call upon German coach Chris Pfeiffer as coach. “He was Manika Batra's former personal coach. He's also an old friend of mine. I had asked him if he was interested and he said 'yes'.”

For the time being, Pfeiffer will work with Sharath, Manush Shah and Manav Thakkar. If all goes well, he could also become the national coach but that will be in the medium term.

Asian wrestling meet in danger

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

AS things stand, the Asian Wrestling Championships is in danger of being shifted out of India. There have been discussions between the United World Wrestling (UWW) and the sports ministry's oversight committee (OC) on deferring the event but apparently this also looks unlikely. As reported by this newspaper, this could be a big fallout of the fight between the wrestlers and the WFI. However, there is no official confirmation from the OC and UWW. The organisers apparently wanted the March 28-April 2 to be pushed to the first week of April. The OC, formed by the sports ministry to look into various allegations, including that of sexual harassment against Wrestling Federation of India and its chief, had apparently written to the UWW a few days ago, listing out their concerns, especially due to the hosting of women's boxing World Championships at the same venue, Indira Gandhi Indoor Stadium in New Delhi from March 15 to 26. The Asian Championships is an important fixture because those nations participating in their respective continental championships will be eligible to compete at the Worlds later this year, which is the first Olympic qualifiie. It is learnt that the OC has been given a couple of weeks' extension too.

Patrons in IOA?

The Indian Olympic Association has apparently formed a few committees during it's Executive Committee meeting on Tuesday. It is understood that they have also named five patrons, something that is not aligned with the sports code. It is understood that the five members are former IOA secretary general Randhir Singh, archery association president Arjun Munda, boxing federation chief Ajay Singh, Badminton Association of India president Himanta Biswa Sarma and AITA chief Anil Jain. It is understood that IOA has also named its chef de mission for the Asian Games and also two advisors have been picked to the guide the body. The National Games date is fixed in November. The IOA will provide insurance to athletes who have brought laurel to the country.

Vinicius, Benzema braces help Real beat sorry Liverpool

AGENCIES @ Liverpool

VINICIUS Junior and Karim Benzema scored twice as Real Madrid produced another stunning Champions League fightback from 2-0 down to thrash Liverpool 5-2 in the first leg of their last 16 tie at Anfield on Tuesday.

Darwin Nunez and Mohamed Salah had given the hosts a perfect start in a repeat of last season's Champions League final.

But Vinicius struck twice to level by half-time and, after Eder Militao had given Carlo Ancelotti's men the lead, Benzema's double put the holders well on the way to the quarterfinals.

Vinicius and Rodrygo (R) celebrate | AFP

“We suffered a lot early on, you can't start games like that, but fortunately the team had a cool head,” said Madrid boss Carlo Ancelotti.

“Up front today we were very efficient. Every time we broke the press of Liverpool we were able to create chances.”

Defeat compounds a disastrous season for Liverpool after coming so close to an unprecedented quadruple of trophies last year.

RESULTS: Liverpool lost to Real Madrid 2-5; Eintracht Frankfurt lost to Napoli 0-2

Jurgen Klopp's men are languishing in eighth in the Premier League and now appear to have no realistic chance of silverware this season.

“I think Carlo thinks the tie is over and I think it is too in the moment,” said Klopp. “In three weeks we will get to the game and take our chances.

“We go there and try to win the game. Whether it is possible, I don't know, but we will try.”

Madrid's 1-0 victory when the sides met in Paris last May was overshadowed by chaotic scenes outside the Stade de France that put the lives of fans at risk.

The Liverpool support responded by drowning out the Champions League anthem with a chorus of boos, while a series of banners in the Kop stand took aim at UEFA and the French authorities.

1 mn asylum requests in EU last year

Syrians continue to be the top nationality of refugees

MIGRATION

BARCELONA: Nearly 1 million people applied for international protection in the EU in 2022, according to data published on Wednesday, bringing the number of asylum requests to a level not seen since the refugee crisis of 2015-2016.

The EU agency for asylum said 966,000 asylum applications were made in the 27 EU countries, Norway and Switzerland last year, up 50% from 2021. That doesn't include more than 4 million Ukrainian refugees who were granted temporary protection in the EU, a special mechanism activated to avoid collapsing already backlogged asylum systems.

After more than a decade of war and economic collapse in their country, Syrians continued to be the top nationality of asylum-seekers in Europe with more than 1,30,000 applications. They were followed closely by Afghans fleeing the spiraling security, humanitarian and financial troubles, with 1,29,000 requests. Coming in third were applicants from Turkey who doubled in numbers with 55,000 requests. Soaring inflation and "democratic backsliding" were among the factors believed to have caused the increase, the agency said. In many places, reception centers are overwhelmed, leaving asylum-seekers in the streets. Venezuelans, Colombians, Bangladeshis and Georgians applied for asylum in record numbers last year, as did Moroccans, Tunisians and Egyptians. Some 4% of asylum-seekers in 2022 claimed to be unaccompanied minors.

The European agency didn't say which EU countries received the most applications last year. But an internal EU migration report seen by the Associated Press lists Germany, France, Spain, Austria and Italy as the top five.

Asylum authorities issued decisions on more than 6,00,000 applications last year but they received even more new cases, adding to the existing backlog. Of the applications analysed, 40% were granted refugee status or subsidiary protection, mostly for Syrian, Belarusian, Eritrean, Yemeni, and Malian applicants, as well as for most of the Ukrainians who chose to apply for asylum instead of temporary protection.

The European agency linked the increase to continuing easing of Covid-19 travel restrictions, increasing food insecurity and conflicts in many parts of the world. Though most asylum-seekers enter the EU legally, mainly by plane with travel visas, some also crossed the EU's land and sea borders without permission, mainly through the Western Balkans and the Mediterranean.

PARIS: An American science fiction magazine said it had stopped accepting submissions and banned hundreds of authors after being deluged with stories written by artificial intelligence (AI) chatbots.

Neil Clarke, editor of the Clarksworld sci-fi and fantasy magazine, told his followers on Twitter on Tuesday that he had banned more than 500 authors in February alone over "machine-generated submissions." Before the advent of ChatGPT, he said, his magazine issued a handful of bans each month, mostly for plagiarism.

Air pollution speeds up bone loss: Study

HEALTH

WASHINGTON: Increased levels of air pollutants such as nitrous oxides are associated with bone damage among postmenopausal women, as per a study. Scientists at Columbia University Mailman School of Public Health, US, found that the effects were most evident on the lumbar spine, with nitrous oxides (NO) twice as damaging as in normal ageing. The latest research, published in the journal eClinicalMedicine, is the first to explore the connection between air pollution and bone mineral density, specifically in postmenopausal women, and the first to explore the effects of air pollution mixtures on bone outcomes.

The researchers analysed data collected through the Women's Health Initiative study, an ethnically diverse group of 1,61,808 postmenopausal women. They estimated air pollution exposures based on participants' home addresses. The team used dual-energy X-ray absorptiometry to measure bone mineral density at enrollment and at follow-up at year one, three, and six. The magnitude of the effects of nitrogen oxides on lumbar spine BMD would amount to 1.22% annual reductions.

Initiatives introduced in S Africa for clean energy

POWER

PRETORIA: South Africa unveiled on Wednesday new tax incentives to encourage investment in the production of clean energy to help the country battle an energy crisis that has sparked worsening blackouts.

Starting from March 1, "businesses will be able to reduce their taxable income by 125% of the cost of an investment in renewables," Finance Minister Enoch Godongwana said in presenting his annual budget to parliament. "We will also introduce a new tax incentive for individuals to install rooftop solar panels to reduce pressure on the grid and help ease" the scheduled blackouts, also known as load-shedding, he said.

The continent's most industrialised country has been labouring under a devastating energy shortfall for months, largely due to under-investment in Eskom's ageing and poorly maintained power plants.

The power outages have weighed on South Africa's growth prospects, with growth this year expected to reach just 0.9% after 2.5% in 2022.

FACT OF THE MATTER

Kenya tourism rebounds in 2022

BUSINESS

Kenya's revenue from its vital tourism industry surged to more than $2 billion last year but remains below pre-pandemic levels, the government said on Wednesday. International tourist arrivals jumped by more than 70% to 1.48 million as travel rebounded following the Covid-19 outbreak, while revenue shot up 83% to $2.12 billion. The United States was the biggest market, with 16% of arrivals, followed by Uganda, the United Kingdom and Tanzania, Tourism Minister Peninah Malonza said. "The arrivals represent a 72.4% recovery towards 2019 numbers, which is above the global average recovery rate of 63%," Malonza said. Kenya is renowned for its stunning Indian Ocean beaches and wildlife parks that are home to the so-called Big Five—lions, elephants, rhinos, leopards and buffalo.

Poland to build 1st N-power plant

ENERGY

Poland and the Westinghouse Electric Company signed a deal on Wednesday for pre-design cooperation on the central European nation's first nuclear power plant using the American firm's technology. Poland's minister for climate and environment, Anna Moskwa, and US Ambassador to Poland Mark Brzezinski signed the deal in Warsaw during US president Joe Biden's visit. Brzezinski stressed that energy is crucial for economic development. Moskwa said construction of the plant is expected to begin in 2026. The facility is expected to start supplying Poland's power grid in 2032, she said. Poland is taking strides in embracing renewable energy, but gets almost 70% of its energy from black and brown coal. Additional contracts are expected to be signed later this year.

Winter affects schools, offices in US

WEATHER

Brutal winter bringing snow, dangerous gusts of wind and bitter cold settled over much of Northern USA on Wednesday, shutting down roadways, schools and businesses and prompting dire warnings for people to stay home. Many schools throughout the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin were called off for Wednesday, ahead of the storm. Offices closed, and so did the Minnesota Legislature. South Dakota Gov Kristi Noem shut down state executive branch offices across the state, and employees were working remotely. In Wyoming, virtually every road was impacted. The storm will make for the East Coast later this week. Forecasters expect up to a half-inch of ice in southern Michigan, northern Illinois and some eastern states.

Against polio

Dr Jonas Salk's vaccine debuted its first mass inoculation against polio in 1954. Arsenal Elementary School kids took part in the first field test

ABOUT THE DISEASE

Poliomyelitis is an acute paralytic disease caused by three poliovirus serotypes. It results from lower motor neuron damage and is characterised by asymmetric persisting weakness

ERADICATION

Global poliomyelitis eradication was proposed in 1988 by the WHO. Polio was controlled using Salk polio vaccine (IPV) and the Sabin oral polio vaccine (OPV)

THE RESEARCHER

In 1947, Salk became associate professor of bacteriology and head of the Virus Research Laboratory at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine

SWINGING IT

Fitness enthusiasts in the city are returning to their roots by opting for traditional and ancient forms of exercise with a gada or mace

MONIKA MONALISA

IF we can go back to traditional wisdom for food, skincare or lifestyle in general, then why not for workouts? Many people from the city are using gada (dome mounted on a long shaft, in mythology mentioned as a weapon of Lord Hanuman) and mudgar (with shorter handles) for fun workouts. These equipment are mostly made of Sheesham wood and are used for functional training.

Rishab Malhotra, founder of Tagd Raho, a fitness brand, is making the equipment, and reviving 'akhada or wrestling workouts'. "It is traditional but the practice is fairly new. Using this technique, we have created a routine called prahaar, which can be used by anybody. These are full-body movements that are incorporated in training programmes. You don't have to be from a wrestling background to be able to use it," says Malhotra, who has seen results of these workouts himself. "I was recovering from an injury, which left my left arm paralysed for 6-7 months. No training worked but when I started using this equipment, things changed," he says, adding that the equipment starts with a light weight of 2 kg.

Apart from Malhotra, city-based cricketer Robin Uthappa, also tries this new trend more frequently. "The equipment and movements are distinctive and have added a new aspect to my training that involves movement on both the left and right brain. It has not only helped me improve my overall strength, but also my balance and awareness. What I love most about it is that it's how our Indian Army trains," says Uthappa.

Quite commonly mistaken for a 'manly workout', Sheral Pereira, a fitness trainer, believes it is meant for everybody and there is no gender barrier. "I discovered it from a friend and have always been excited about trying out new movements. So I thought I would give it a shot. The first time I picked it up , honestly, I was a bit intimidated. It seemed complicated. But I thoroughly enjoyed it because there is a lot of mind-muscle connection. Twisting and turning makes you use a lot of the muscles in your body," says Pereira.

Pereira is aware that people assume lifting weights makes them muscular. "That notion needs to be abolished. It depends on your body type and the food intake. All of them affect how bulked a person gets," she adds.

The workout also helps people who have back issues. Sriram Gangadharan, 45, a businessman, has been practising this from the past seven months. "This workout focuses on a 360 degree movement of the body. It involves lots of twists and turns and swinging with gadas and mudgar. It helps all parts of your body. I had a back issue and it has much improved," he adds.

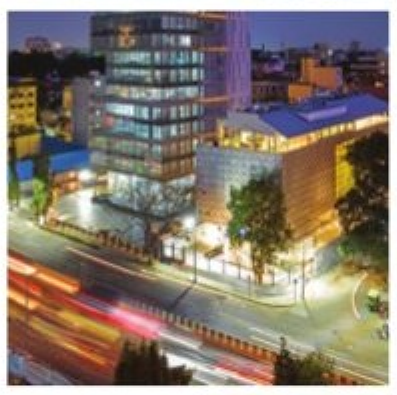
MUSEUM with a view

The Museum of Art and Photography (MAP), designed by city-based architects, recently opened its doors to the public

DESE GOWDA



WITH their origins in colonial fascination with the act of 'collecting' precious artefact from across the world, museums have come a long way. As the definition of art continues to evolve, these former institutions of colonial power have started to become increasingly out of place in the modern world, more so as movements to make art more accessible to everyone gains traction.

The Museum of Art and Photography (MAP), a brainchild of philanthropist and collector Abhishek Poddar is at the forefront of this movement. Architects Soumitro Ghosh and Nisha Mathew of the city-based firm Mathew & Ghosh, known for their work on the Freedom Park, and National Military Memorial, designed the museum.

Spread across five storeys and over 4,000 sq ft, MAP hosts five galleries, an auditorium, research library and more. Yet from the exterior, it barely resembles a museum, lacking the usual elements of a traditional museum.

The design of the building was deliberately kept muted in an effort to make it relatable for Bengaluru's cosmopolitan audiences. "There's an ongoing debate about whether art galleries should just be 'plain boxes' that do not draw any attention to themselves or if they need to be 'decorated boxes' that also house art within them. In the case of MAP, we decided that in the interiors, we do not want to draw any attention to the building itself so that the art can get all the attention it deserves. But the exterior was deliberately designed to attract attention," he says, adding that a few other factors, including space constraints and regulatory requirements, influenced the design philosophy.

Nisha Mathew & Soumitro Ghosh

While the space constraints might have been avoided had the museum been established in any other part of the city, the location in CBD was an important factor. "The foremost reason was that there is a sizable body of cultural institutions around the locality, including three other museums. If someone were to come visit one of them, they could easily visit all of them. The location is also close to the metro. Furthermore, it's in the heart of the city, between some of the older parts such as Malleswaram, and newer and upcoming localities like Koramangala," Ghosh explains.

> It's been great to get reactions from the public coming into the space over the last few days. From what we've heard, especially from young architects who visited, they are excited at the opportunity that MAP's architecture presents for engaging with local culture — Nisha Mathew, architect, MAP

CITY-BASED ACTOR URVASHI HV'S LATEST MEDICAL DRAMA WEB SERIES IS CURRENTLY STREAMING ON YOUTUBE; SHOW FEATURES SENIOR ACTORS FROM THE INDUSTRY LIKE JAYA BHATTACHARYA AND RAKESH BEDI

Dose of drama

EXPRESS FEATURES

IF you are a fan of medical dramas, then this may interest you. Starting Troubles 2, which is currently streaming on the YouTube channel of PRS Neurosciences, revolves around the two young doctors – Dr Prathiba Sharan and Dr Sharan Srinivasan and their medical journey. The series also stars senior actors like Jaya Bhattacharya and Rakesh Bedi.

City-based actor Urvashi HV, who plays the role of Dr Prathiba lightheartedly mentions that it was 'nepotism casting' for her. "Dr Prathiba Sharan is my mother's cousin. Dr Sharan Srinivasan and she have produced this show and it is based on their story. I play the role of Dr Prathiba Sharan. The story is based on their entire career of how they started off in med school and how they set up the neurosurgical ward," she mentions, adding that the story is a narration to a journalist.

To get into the skin of the character, she did her own research. "I just followed her around in the rehab centre and asked for a few pointed questions like how she approaches things, delivering good news and bad news and noticed that she has a very motherly approach.

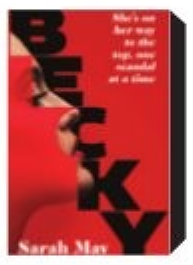
She was very physically affectionate with her patients. She has a nurturing vibe and I tried to bring that into picture," she says, adding that it is a supporting role since the main focus is on Dr Sharan.

The series helped her discover a different side to her aunt. "I used to meet her at functions or family gatherings in the past, but through this series, I discovered other things about her that I had never known," she says.

Recovering from her knee surgery, Urvashi is slowly coming back to acting.

"I am recovering from my knee surgery that took place a couple of months ago, so I am working my way back into the scene. In the process of recovery I have put on a lot of weight and being in this industry you have to look a certain way so I am working on that," says Urvashi, who has been quite vocal about mental health.

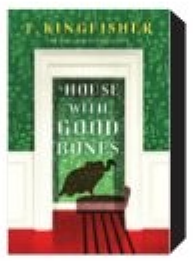
BOOK NOOK



Becky

by Sarah May

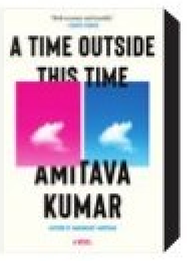
Becky Sharp, the central character of the novel, is determined. Determined to get away from the dead-end town where she grew up, determined to make a place for herself in high society and determined to reach the top of the career ladder. And she doesn't care how many lives she ruins in the process.



A House With Good Bones

by T Kingfisher

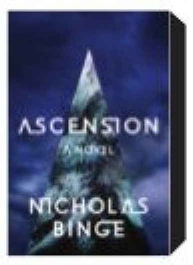
A haunting Southern Gothic from an award-winning master of suspense, A House With Good Bones explores the dark, twisted roots lurking just beneath the veneer of a perfect home and family.



A Time Outside This Time

by Amitava Kumar

The book captures a feverish political moment with intelligence, beauty, and an eye for the uncanny. It is a brilliant interrogation on life in a post-truth era and an attempt to imagine a time outside this one.



Ascension

by Nicholas Binge

A mind-bending speculative thriller in which the sudden appearance of a mountain in the middle of the Pacific Ocean leads a group of scientists to a series of jaw-dropping revelations that challenge the notion of what it means to be human.

QUICK FIX

CORN SALSA

Contributed by Dassana Amit, Mumbai

INGREDIENTS

- Corn
- Cumin powder: 1/4 tsp
- Coriander leaves: 2 tbsp, chopped
- Black pepper powder: 1/4 tsp
- Red chilli powder: 1/4 tsp
- Onions: 1/4 cup, finely chopped
- Green chilli: 1 tsp, chopped
- Salt to taste
- Lemon juice

METHOD

- Cook the corn if you are using fresh corn.
- Allow the cooked corn to cool completely. Then, use a knife to carefully slice the kernels off of the corn cob. You want to wind up with at least 1 cup of corn for this salsa recipe.
- Place the corn kernels in a medium bowl, and add finely chopped onions, green chili or jalapeño or serrano pepper, and coriander leaves.
- Add the spices, cumin powder, red chili powder, black pepper powder and salt to taste.
- You can add more chili powder and also include a dash of cayenne and/or diced jalapeno for extra heat if you like.
- Lastly, squeeze in some fresh lemon juice.
- Mix well to thoroughly combine.

POORNA BHUJANGASANA

(FULL COBRA POSE)

This is a flow practice as it involves two yoga poses Balasana (Child Pose) with arms stretched in front of you and Bhujangasana (Cobra Pose). It is considered a warm-up yoga pose to prepare the body for more intense yoga poses/flows.

STEPS

- First, lie down on the stomach and relax all muscles completely.
- After that, rest the forehead on the floor.
- Then, put your legs together and arms close to the body, keep hands jointly at the front, palm facing ground.
- Inhale slowly and raise the upper part of the body including chest and head to the maximum extent possible just like a cobra raising its hood.
- You should not create any jerk.
- Bending of vertebrae is felt gradually, feeling the pressure downwards from cervical, dorsal, lumbar and to the sacral portion of the body.
- Keep your chest and head upwards.
- You can try to hold this position for thirty seconds.
- Exhale slowly, bring down the trunk smoothly to the floor, starting from the navel area, thorax shoulders, chin and forehead.
- Beginners can get help of arms to raise their upper part. The hands must remain together.
- Try to put minimum weight on hands and you can divide it on spine and arms.
- While coming back some people bend their head first, avoid it.
- Part of the body which leaves the ground first and returns to the ground last.
- It should be practiced four-five times in one session.

HOW OBESITY CAN AFFECT YOUR PREGNANCY

DR N SAPNA LULLA

EAT for two is a common advice given to every expecting mother. While this suggestion aims to encourage expecting mothers to achieve the optimum weight and ensure complete well-being and nutrition for their child, eating for two often leads to more weight gain among pregnant women and increases their risk of being obese.

WHAT IS OBESITY?

Obesity is a complex disorder that leads to the development of excessive fat in your body. It is measured based on one's Body Mass Index (BMI). Generally, people with BMI between 25 and 29.8 are considered overweight, whereas people with BMI 30 or higher are considered obese.

Obesity is categorised under three levels, indicating rising BMI and health risks. These include -

- Category I obesity: BMI of 30–34.9
- Category II obesity: BMI of 35–39.9
- Category III obesity: BMI of 40 or higher.

HOW CAN OBESITY IMPACT YOUR PREGNANCY?

Obesity during pregnancy is one of the most common health issues that expecting mothers often face, as it increases the risk of multiple pregnancy complications. Usually, women with an increased Body Mass Index (BMI) experience the following health issues due to obesity:

Gestational hypertension: It is defined as high blood pressure that develops during the second trimester of pregnancy and leads to serious health complications

Pre-eclampsia: This type of severe gestational hypertension develops in the second half of pregnancy or shortly after delivery. Due to this condition, obese women often develop liver and kidney failure and may sometimes experience seizures, heart attacks, and strokes. Other risk issues include the growth of the foetus and problems with the placenta.

Macrosomia: In this condition, the foetus is larger than usual, which results in birth injuries during the delivery.

Gestational diabetes: An increase in blood sugar levels during pregnancy often results in babies being born with excessive weight, due to which many mothers also have to undergo caesarean deliveries. Women diagnosed with gestational diabetes are also at risk of developing diabetes mellitus later, which can also be passed to their children.

Obstructive sleep apnea: In this condition, a person stops breathing briefly while sleeping and during pregnancy; sleep apnea can make women feel more tired and raise their risk of preeclampsia, high blood pressure, and heart and lung issues.

Birth defects: Pregnant women who are obese are likely to give birth to children who have birth defects like neural tube defects and heart defects.

Issues with diagnostic procedures: Excessive body fat can hide foetal anatomy issues during an ultrasound examination and can make it more challenging to monitor the foetal heart rate during labour.

HOW YOU ENSURE A HEALTHY PREGNANCY

Despite the risks, obese women can have a healthy pregnancy. Using the below-mentioned tips, obese women can stay fit and healthy.

- Adopt a weight-loss plan and consider exercises like swimming and walking for at least 30 minutes
- Consume a healthy diet and include low-carbohydrate and high-fat protein foods in your diet
- Restrict rice intake
- Avoid sugar and instead intake food and beverages that have a natural sweetness

This wearable device alerts when your voice needs a break

A team of researchers has developed the first smart wearable device to track how much people use their voices, alerting them before vocal fatigue and potential injury set in. According to Northwestern University researchers, the battery-powered, wireless device and accompanying algorithms could be a game-changer for anyone who relies on their voices to communicate effectively. It also could help clinicians remotely and continuously monitor patients with voice disorders throughout their treatment. "The device measures the amplitude and frequency for speaking and singing," said John A. Rogers, who led the device's development. "Those two parameters are most important in determining the overall load that's occurring on the vocal folds. Being aware of those parameters, both at a given instant and cumulatively over time, is essential for managing healthy patterns of vocalisation," Rogers said in a paper published in the journal Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

Beware of indoor pollution

DR K THIRUPPATHI

While pollution outdoors poses a health risk for people, worsening indoor air quality has also become a pressing issue. Annually almost four million deaths are attributed to indoor air pollution worldwide and in India, approximately 4-6% of the national burden of disease, attributed indoor air pollution as the major risk factor.

Present in enclosed spaces, indoor air pollution can be in the form of particulate matter like soot and dust mites or gases like carbon monoxide, nitrogen oxide, and sulphur dioxide that are emitted from cooking, heating, or cleaning solutions. Those with lung conditions like asthma, and Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease (COPD) are more vulnerable.

While over and continuous exposure to air pollutants can cause irreversible lung damage, it is not a direct cause of asthma. However, it does irritate the airways and cause exacerbations of asthma symptoms. For people with asthma, the airways of the lungs are inflamed and swollen, making them a more sensitive when exposed to allergens and irritants. Therefore, when an already vulnerable respiratory tract is exposed to triggers common in indoor air pollution, it can cause the airway to swell further, increasing the production of mucus and causing the space for air to pass freely to reduce even more. This leads to further worsening of lung function. Depending on the severity of your condition and extent of exposure, it can exacerbate into an asthma attack where the breathing tubes narrow to the point that it becomes a life-threatening emergency.

Using biomass fuels while cooking is a common source of indoor air pollution and poses health risks. Other sources such as smoke from tobacco or e-cigarette in enclosed spaces, fumes from chemical household cleaning products, scented candles, and air fresheners. Incense sticks and mosquito coils emit higher levels of respirable particulate matter, which can accumulate causing respiratory illnesses.

Dust mites, mold, pollen, infectious agents produced in stagnant water, mattresses, and carpets can all contribute to an increase in asthma symptoms.

While avoiding triggers as well as a continuous effort to minimise pollution levels indoors is important, consulting a doctor to manage your condition is critical. Since asthma triggers can change over time, putting an action plan in place is crucial to make sure that the treatment is relevant.

The prescribed treatment plan may vary depending upon the severity and exposure to pollutants. However, the delivery of drugs by inhalation is an integral component in combating asthma triggers and managing the condition. Patients are prescribed different types of inhalers based on their condition:

- Long-term control medications such as inhaled corticosteroids, which are preventive medications used daily to treat airway inflammation & reduce flare-ups.
- Quick relief inhalers which is meant to rescue you from a sudden attack and contains fast-acting medication, used as needed to open airways.

Living with chronic pain may impact your memory, learning skills

IANS

PEOPLE living with chronic pain conditions in the knee, neck and back due to ailments such as arthritis or cancer may be at a higher risk of developing dementia, claimed a study. The research from the Chinese Academy of Sciences showed that people with chronic pain in multiple parts of the body experienced broader and faster cognitive decline, including memory, executive function, learning and attention. Multisite chronic pain, where pain is experienced in multiple anatomical locations, affects almost half of chronic pain patients and has been found to place a greater burden on patients' overall health. However, it was not clear whether people with multisite chronic pain suffered from aggravated neurocognitive abnormalities. To understand, the new study, published online in the journal PNAS, analysed the records of 354,943 people. It found that the risk of neurocognitive abnormality increased with each additional pain site. It was also mediated by atrophy in the hippocampus, the part of the brain responsible for memory.

'I HOPE GOWLI WILL BE THE TURNING POINT IN MY CAREER'

Srinagar Kitty

...says Srinagar Kitty, who is back to play the lead in a commercial entertainer after almost six years

A SHARADHAA

SRINAGAR Kitty will be celebrating 20 years in Sandalwood this August. The actor, in his two-decade career, portrayed memorable characters in films like Inthi Ninna Preethiya, and Sanju Weds Geetha, yet the versatile performer hasn't got his due in the industry.

Kitty for the last six years has not been part of mainstream cinema, in a lead role. The actor shifted to playing pivotal roles and negative characters. And there were times when his absence was felt in the industry. "I had not gone anywhere. I got into the wrong projects, and as a result, about 6 to 7 films I was part off did not take off as per plan or paused midway through shooting. At one point, I felt there was a lack of guidance. This period of ups and downs also gave me the time to introspect about my career and learn the art of judging. Teaming up with the right kind of filmmakers, and production houses, results in a good film that will reach the audiences," he says.

The actor says that as an artist, he has always been devoted to this art form. "My love towards acting and cinema never dies. But some people misused my friendship and finance and avoided me. I've been silent throughout," says Kitty, who is confident that his upcoming film, Gowli will be a turning point of his career. "Everyone who has travelled with me for 20 years is excited about Gowli. I credit director Soora for this. He was responsible for channelling 'Gowli' in me, a character that has got me hooked for the last 3 years. He has made sure, that I was in the character always. It was enjoyable being Gowli.''

Kitty calls Gowli a wholesome entertainer with various emotions. "The film is rich with family sentiment and love for the environment and animals. People around Gowli, and the ones in his village respect him a lot and there is also an angry side to him." Ask the actor, how relevant is this subject in today's times, and he states, "Love, crime, and vengeance are relevant from the time humans began to exist. Gowli shot in a certain part of Sirsi with the Gowli community is what makes it a different experience and interesting."

Kitty found it easy to play Gowli (milkman). "Before entering cinema, I distributed milk packets in cycles. But, Gowli had me playing an authentic milkman. This was a different kind of experience. Gowli as a community are very innocent, closer to the roots, grounded, and shooting among those people has made the film very realistic. We also had good support coming from artists like Rangayana Raghu, Paavana Gowda, Suddhi Cockroach and Yash Shetty. Everyone felt that it is a refreshing story."

Does Kitty have a game plan going forward? "I am confident, Gowli will give that big break to my career, and that will get me unique roles. I won't attempt doing routine films. At this time, I am keen to do an intense love story, but I am yet to get such a script," says Kitty, who also says that he has always been okay with doing character and negative roles. He cites examples of films like Avatara Purusha directed by Suni, in which he played a magician, a negative role in upcoming Veeram starring Prajwal Devaraj, and Vinod Prabhakar starrer, Maadeva. "I enjoy working in a multistarrer and being part of different roles. All I look for is characters that allow me to perform, and I like to be surrounded by good artists."

Kitty is currently on a devotional trip and is eagerly awaiting the release of his film on February 24.

Considering whom I should end)".

Ganapath will be released in five languages: Hindi, Telugu, Tamil, Malayalam and Telugu. The film is directed by Vikas Bahl. Backed by Pooja Entertainment, it is produced by Vikas, Vashu Bhagnani, Deepshikha Deshmukh and Jackky Bhagnani.

Ganapath will see Tiger and Kriti reunite after their debut Heropanti (2014).

National Award-winning editor Sreekar Prasad discusses the evolution of cinema, the audience's sensibilities and the storm called RRR

'RRR'S SUCCESS IN THE WEST IS AN EYE-OPENER'

RAM VENKAT SRIKAR

SREEKAR Prasad's Twitter bio fittingly reads, 'Learning is an everyday experience'. Even after 600 films and 9 National Awards in a career spanning nearly 4 decades, the enthusiasm in his voice when he discusses his craft is palpable. Over the course of his career, he has seen it all—successes, failures, criticism, accolades, creative challenges, and more. Does he still find newer challenges and tougher obstacles in his craft? "Every film is a challenge. Every filmmaker is unique. If there are 60 scenes in a film, we have 60 challenges. And once it is all put together, it leads to another bigger challenge. It is not the easiest of the jobs but if you enjoy the process, it doesn't tell on you."

In this conversation, the editor, whose craft transcends genres and languages, opens up about the finer details of the art of film editing, how consumption of cinema has evolved over the years, and of course, the reason behind RRR's success in the west.

Excerpts:

After spending 38 years in the film business, you must have developed a fairly accurate judgment about the success of films. From your experience, how do you look at the sensation created by RRR among the western audience?

It is a huge surprise because we knew that it is a creation of a filmmaker who is known for making larger-than-life films, and it was made for a specific audience — Telugu people. When we started off, I liked the fact that RRR had the soul of a Telugu film. Many films labelled pan-India films should be called pan-India releases instead because they don't cater to everyone. People from the North are seeing them as South Indian films. So I was happy that SS Rajamouli wanted to make a Telugu film.

Although there have been instances of our films reaching the Western audience, they are mostly restricted to Indian pockets or the film festival circuits. The reach of RRR in the West is an eye-opener because we believed that the song-and-dance routine was a hindrance in presenting our films abroad.

I am happy that it reached them because it is usually us who keep getting excited about their films and it is a nice feeling to see the West reciprocate the same excitement.

I also think RRR is SS Rajamouli's most evolved work because it knows where to create a high and where to give silence, at times when filmmakers are dreading silence. The scene where Bheem meets Malli uses silence beautifully…

It is an emotional moment that holds on its own. The filmmaker has to make the moments work. Even Mani Ratnam uses silences a lot. He tries to create a blend of silence and music that helps the emotion and does not just underline what's on screen.

Sometimes, there is music for everything; if they cry, there's music, if they laugh, there's music. It takes away from cinema, which is not just a commercial tool but a person's expression. This purpose is being defeated because films are not being consumed as a whole these days; there is an inclination to enjoy individual moments, and when you walk out, you don't remember the whole film. Temporary gratification is taking over the larger experience.

The attention span of the audience has clearly taken a beating and they are becoming restless due to silence…

Attention span has definitely gone down due to the advent of other means like the internet and smartphones. They are enjoying 10-minute videos too. Filmmakers have to be aware of the fact that one can cram much more information into a 1-minute video on a 21-inch screen.

The restlessness in theatres is not related to the attention span but to the sound in theatres. Our audience have been habituated to hearing sound at incredibly higher levels for years now. Even a mediocre product can be bombarded with a lot of music so the audience doesn't even have the option to think.

Filmmakers think that the audience won't be receptive to the film if not for the music. What the filmmaker doesn't understand is that if the scene or the emotional moment holds well, silence will also work. Sometimes, filmmakers and we want silence, but we fear the reactions.

Is working with younger filmmakers a more liberating and, say, authoritative experience?

There is no such thing as an authority here because we are all working towards a common goal. While working with a youngster, there is a new kind of excitement from their ideas and style. This excitement is what I am chasing at my age. See, there is an easy way of making films—establishing shot, close and mid. Unfortunately, 70 per cent of Indian cinema is verbose.

NUVVU NAAKU NACHAV (2002)

The whole process was breezy. Trivikram was in a free flow and was in good tandem with filmmaker Vijayabhaskar. It is a simple film and while editing, we knew that it was working beautifully. We were slightly concerned about the length and we tried to get rid of the sentimental portions in the end. Although it had cliches, the writing was fresh and I still hear it is a hit on TV.

OKKADU (2003)

The popular scene in which Mahesh Babu hits Prakash Raj in front of Kondareddy Buruju was supposed to be the opening scene of the film. But we decided against that and opted for a conventional, linear screenplay. The scene works because of smart writing and the dialogue too. I tend to opt for lesser exaggeration and tone down artificial heroism because I have seen the other side of cinema too.

BILLA (2007)

I share a good rapport with filmmaker Vishnuvardhan and the trickiest part about Billa was that it's a remake. I had seen the original to death in Hindi and Tamil so I simply didn't see the point of making the same story again, other than the fact that my director has a huge star and they are banking on the recall value of the story. And then, the director focused on the style and we helped him portray it on screen. So even familiar scenes worked well.
